Big 3 Ministers Await Ike's Word on Meeting

President Wants Red Sincerity

Policy Sought On Viet Nam

Paris, May 9 (AP)—The Big Three foreign ministers awaited word today from President Eisenhower on a proposal for a meeting "at the summit" with Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin in Switzerland next July.

Spokesmen for the British, who with the French have been pressing for a top level meeting, said last night Secretary of State Dulles had promised to ask Eisenhower for an answer on the proposal within 48 hours.

IN WASHINGTON, Eisenhower's press aide, Murray Snyder, said he had heard of no communications between Dulles and the President on the subject but that he had not talked to the President during the day.

In recent news conferences, Eisenhower has said he wanted assurances of Russia's sincerity before he would take part in a big power conference.

Here for the North Atlantic Council meeting to welcome West Germany into NATO, Dulles conferred most of yesterday with British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay on the prospects for Big Four talks and the Austrian independence treaty. West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer joined them last night.

THIS AFTERNOON, in between NATO meetings, the Western Big Three were to take up the situation in South Viet Nam in an effort to pound out a united policy. Premier Ngo Dinh Diem, who weathered an attempt last week to topple his regime, has appealed to the Big Three to reject Chief of State Bao Dai's efforts to re-establish himself in Viet Nam.

American sources said Dulles has no present intention of seeing Bao Dai, who hastened here from his French Riviera home Saturday. Bao Dai contacted American embassy officials last week with a request to see Dulles. He also submitted a plan for settling his dispute with Diem.

ALTHOUGH DULLES forwarded the British-French proposal for a top-level Big Four meeting, American sources said the secretary of state still feels the four foreign ministers should meet first to work out details of a German settlement and other European questions.

Should Eisenhower agree to the meeting of government chiefs first, the Big Three reportedly will send notes to Moscow at once proposing that the Soviet, British and French premiers and Eisenhower meet. It was believed the West at such a conference would avoid Far Eastern questions since this undoubtedly would touch off Russian demands that Red China be asked to sit in.

Mayor Urges HospitalSupport

Mayor Frederick H. Stang today urged support of local hospitals in observance of National Hospital Week, May 8 to 14.

Progress, he said, is the theme of the week "which commemorates the humanitarian service of hospitals throughout the world and celebrates the birthday of Florence Nightingale."

"The progress being made by our local hospitals is something for which we should give pause in appreciation of the work of many to bring to the community a high quality of hospital care. Our support should be continuing throughout the year as our endeavor to provide for ourselves even better hospital facilities.

Thruway To Suffern Open Soon

Six-Lane Road To Relieve R-17

Traffic will be moving over the New York State Thruway from upstate areas as far as the Suffern juncture with Route 17 by the end of this month, and four main restaurants between Albany and New York, including four in Ulster county should be opened by fall, a state official said today.

May 27 is listed as "the target date" for opening of the expressway to the Hillburn-Suffern area, about 14 miles below Harriman, A. R. Erskine, thruway engineer at Poughkeepsie said today.

THE SIX-LANE section in that area is expected to be open to traffic before the Memorial Day week-end even though some construction may be still in progress there. State officials plan the opening by that date to relieve the usual heavy flow over Route 17.

Opening of the bridge between Nyack and Tarrytown, a major connecting point, between upstate New York traffic, and the metropolitan area, is tentatively scheduled for mid-summer, but some delay, possibly beyond that date, is expected in the completion of the Suffern-Nyack strip of the thruway, which has been involved in contract complications.

WORK HAS BEEN under way for some time on construction of Class A type restaurants at Ruby and Malden and the Class B type in the Plattekill and Modena areas. They are tentatively scheduled to open in the early fall.

Class A type restaurants include lunch counter restaurant cafeteria and service station facilities. Class B is about the same excepting the cafeteria service.

It is planned to open the Harriman-Hillburn section May 27 at 3 p. m. The complicated Suffern interchange will not be completed at that time, but ramps have been constructed to connect the expressway and Route 17 about a mile north.

Adenauer At Defense Discussion

Ministers Happy On New Alliance

Paris, May 9 (AP)—The North Atlantic Council welcomed West Germany today as its 15th member in the western alliance against the threat of Communist aggression.

Chancellor Konrad Abenauer took his place at the NATO Council table for the first time in a public session in the Palais De Chaillot. The top NATO group opened a three-day session in problems of western European defense and other issues of global import.

For the 79-year-old West German statesman the ceremony marked a culminating stage in his long and difficult campaign to enroll his countrymen as an equal partner in the ranks of the free world's democracies.

ADENAUER'S place at the council table, alloted by alphabetical order, was between France and Greece. Only 10 years ago both countries were delivered from the Nazi invaders who had ravaged them during World War 2.

Outside and inside the NATO headquarters, the black, red and gold banner of Bonn republic flew for the first time alongside the flags of the 14 other NATO members.

Simultaneously the West German flag was raised at SHAPE. The Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe, 12 miles west of Paris. Gen. Alfred Gruenther, the supreme allied commander, and former Gen. Hans Speidel, new head of West Germany's liaison mission to SHAPE, attended the brief ceremony there.

GREEK FOREIGN Minister Stephan Stephanopoulos, presiding at the council sessions, declared "all countries of the world, and not only NATO member countries, should rejoice" in West Germany's inclusion in the alliance.

After Stephanopoulus, each of the other ministers rose in turn to welcome their 15th member.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles termed the step one of "historic significance" which demonstrated the "capacity of the Atlantic peoples to submerge ancient differences in order the better to secure the value of western civilization."

DULLES EMPHASIZED that "there is no tolerable substitute for peace." He said all the NATO nations knew from bitter experience that peace is not achieved merely by desiring it.

Replying to the welcoming speeches, Adenauer pledged his countrymen in the cause of world peace and freedom.

Referring to World War 2, the chancellor said the German people "have paid harshly for the horrors which were committed in their name by blind and evil leadership."

But "these sufferings," he continued, "have transformed and purified the German nation. Today everywhere in Germany, peace and freedom are felt to be the greatest treasures. As was the case in the best periods of her histroy."

PROMISING GERMANY will be an able and reliable partner, Adenauer said she will play her part in safeguarding freedom and human dignity.

When the chancellor finished, the NATO council ended its

Body Is Found in Rondout Creek

Thruway Worker Sees Boy at Lefever Bridge

The body of David Edge, 5, missing from Rosendale since April 21, was recovered from the Rondout Creek at LeFever Falls this morning.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edge of Box 355, RFD, Kingston, was the subject of an intensive, daily search since he disappeared behind the Rosendale Post Office, leaving his toy gun on a rock protruding into the creek.

THE BODY was spotted in the creek about 9 a. m. today by Anthony Benevento of Milton, employed by the John Arborio Company laying side gutters on the Thruway.

Benevento and others, some of whom reside in Rosendale and knew the boy's parents, had been watching the creek closely for several days while working near the Thruway bridge across the creek, it was reported.

The sheriff's office was notified when the body was found this morning, and positive identification was made from clothing the lad was wearing.

A VERDICT of accidental death by drowning was issued by Coroner Francis J. McCardle.

The body was turned over to Moylan Funeral Home in Rosendale.

The body apparently had come to the surface sometime during the night, and floated until it was caught on rocks just below the LeFever Falls bridge. It was removed from the water after Coroner McCardle, County Investigator Arthur H. Brown, Deputy Sheriff Benjamin Newkirk and Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky went to the scene after the authorities were notified of the discovery by Benevento.

A DAILY SEARCH, which included grappling and searching the banks along both sides of the creek, has been in progress since the boy was reported missing on April 21. Under the direction of the sheriff's office, many volunteers participated including members of Rosendale,

23 Motorists Die Mother's Day on State Highways

Albany, May 9 (AP)—Mother's Day and mild weather drew thousands of motorists to highways in New York state over the weekend. Twenty-three of them are dead.

Accidents claimed a total of 30 lives between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday in the state. Four deaths were blamed on fires and three on other mishaps.

A COLLISION between an automobile and a truck on a rain-slick country road near Woodbury, L. I., yesterday killed two children, the father of one and the mother of another.

The family group was traveling from their homes in Brooklyn to Huntington for a Mother's Day visit. The dead were Amiel Rossi, 40; his daughter, Linda, 7; his sister, Mrs. Rose Lusardi, 37, and her daughter, Tina, 6. Rossi was driving the car.

Mrs. Rose Rossi, 36, the widow, and her other child, Douglas, 2, were injured. Douglas was put on the danger list. Neither of the two men in the truck was injured.

A FATHER and his 11-year-old son were drowned Saturday in the Grasse river at Massena when the boy fell in and his father tried to rescue him.

William D. McKenna, Sr., 54, and his son, Collin Michael, were fishing from a bank when the boy fell into the swift-flowing river.

Another son, William Jr., 23, who like his father was a poor swimmer raced along the bank after the older man jumped in and the two were carried downstream. William said that when he last saw the two the boy had his arms clasped about his

State Has Snow, Mercury to Drop

Albany, N. Y., May 9 (AP) — Snow fell in parts of New York state today and the weather bureau issued a frost warning for tonight.

The bureau said freezing temperatures would be general and that the mercury might drop to the mid-20s in some valleys protected from the winds. Severe damage to fruit crops was anticipated.

Heavy snow squalls were reported at Cortland, in south-central New York, where the temperature fell to 34 degrees. Rome, in the central section, had a light snow shower.

STATE POLICE reported it snowed briefly "so hard you couldn't see" in the West Winfield and Sauquoit areas south of Utica. The temperature was 34 degrees.

In Syracuse, the U. S. Weather Bureau said it had unofficial reports of a trace of snow there when the temperature fell to 37 and official reports of traces of snow in the Elmira and Binghamton areas.

TEMPERATURES overnight will range generally from the mid-30s to the low 40s, the weatherman said.

Eastern and central New York are expected to be hardest hit by the frost.

The cold wave, which the bureau said was not unusual for May, came down from Canada.

Mrs. Humiston, 76, Funeral Home Operator Is Dead

Mrs. Margaret Humiston, 76, president of the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Inc., died on Saturday at her home in Kerhonkson.

One of the first women in New York state to be licensed as a funeral director, Mrs. Humiston was the widow of Howard B. Humiston, who founded the funeral home in 1908. They operated the business together until his death in 1940.

MRS. HUMISTON continued the business, becoming president when it was incorporated in 1951 and she maintained an active interest until her most recent illness in February of this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Humiston were married at Napanoch in 1904. They moved to Kerhonkson in 1907. In addition to operating the funeral home at Kerhonkson since 1908, they established a branch at Ellenville in 1934, and in 1941 purchased a home at the corner of Maiden Lane and Canal street, Ellenville, which they converted into a funeral home.

Mrs. Humiston was a member of the Federated Church of Kerhonkson; Wawarsing Lodge 253, Eastern Star, of Ellenville; Patroon Grange of Accord; was a charter member of the Catskill Mountain Funeral Directors' Association, a member of the New York State Funeral Directors' Association and the National Funeral Directors' Association.

BORN IN WILCOX, Pa., daughter of the late John and Kunigunda Reban Heinzman, she moved to Ellenville at an early age. Her father was president of the old Ellenville Fairgrounds Association.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson and Mrs. Fred Tator of

To Examine All Salk Plants

Vaccination Program Awaits Safety Check

Washington, May 9 (AP)—The nation's polio vaccination program slowed toward a temporary standstill today for a new plant-by-plant safety check by federal health authorities.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele voiced confidence five laboratories now turning out Salk vaccine would get a complete bill of health, and said he hoped the first held-up batches of vaccine would be cleared for immediate use late this week.

Scheele, head of the U. S. Public Health Service, likewise pronounced the vaccine every bit as safe and effective as originally announced.

He assured parents whose children have been vaccinated that "in the very best judgment of the public health service, they have no cause for alarm."

Scheele's announcement — a "strong recommendation" that all vaccinations be suspended for the time being—came as a dramatic Sunday evening finale to a weekend of confusion over the status of the vaccination program.

As late as last Friday, Scheele himself had recommended that the inoculations be continued where vaccine was available. Then early Saturday he suggested a weekend halt in the giving of shots and followed through with yesterday's recommendation for a further delay for what he called "a double check."

MOST STATES seemed disposed to follow Scheele's recommendation. New Jersey and Connecticut, among others, had vaccine supplies ready for the start of shots today, but called a halt. Indiana's health commissioner first said he saw no reason for delay, but later recommended postponement.

Many states had no choice. They lacked sufficient vaccine to start or resume their programs.

But in Michigan, Health Commissioner Albert Heustis said that state's program will continue unless there is a "direct order" not to do so. "We have ample evidence that the vaccine

Passenger Drowns In Ditch Under Overturned Auto

A New York city resident was drowned as the result of an automobile accident on the Woodridge Road in the town of Wawarsing on Sunday.

Leonard L. Wooten, 41, of 101 West 131st street, was pinned under an overturned automobile in a small pool of water in the ditch along the county road, state police reported.

A VERDICT of death by drowning as a result of the accident has been issued by Dr. Charles Rosenstock of Ellenville, an Ulster county coroner.

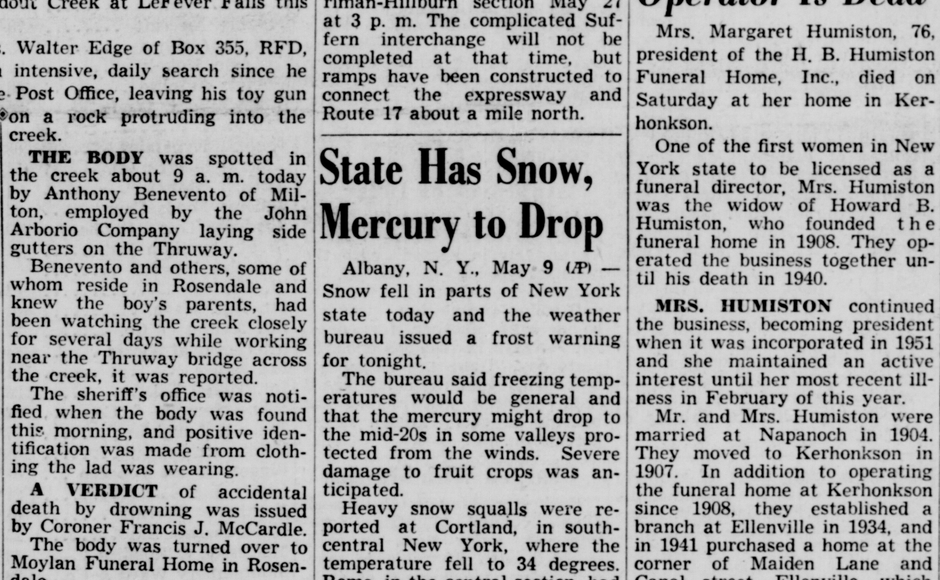

Troopers said Wooten was a passenger in an automobile driven by Johney Oliver, 34, of Woodridge. Oliver was not reported injured.

The automobile was traveling north along the Woodridge road about a mile south of State Route 52 when it failed to negotiate a sharp right curve and overturned on its right side in the west ditch, according to the state police report.

THE ACCIDENT occurred at 8:20 a. m. Sunday in the locality known as Roseland. The pavement was wet and the weather rainy at the time, according to state police.

There was no arrest.

Wooten's body was taken to the Loucks Funeral Home in Ellenville to be transferred today to New York city.

TWO PERSONS WERE INJURED when the automobile, above, was in collision with a tractor-trailer on the East Chester street by-pass about 500 feet north of the Kingston city line at 2 a. m. today, state police reported.

Taken to Kingston Hospital by ambulance were Donald Freer, 23, of 143 Pine Grove avenue, who suffered severe lacerations of the head and face, and Edward Leo Trinkle, age not available, of 40 Murray street, state police reported.

Freer's condition was listed as "fair" and Trinkle's as "good" at the hospital today.

Troopers said the automobile, driven by Trinkle, was in almost headon collision with the tractor-trailer owned by National Freighting Co., Vineland, N. J., and driven by Thomas Cooper of Paulsboro, N. J.

The tractor trailer was traveling north and was struck on its left front side in the northbound lane by the Trinkle car, according to the state police report. No arrest was made.

Hudson Church Fire Does $250,000 Damage Sunday

Hudson, May 9 (AP)—Fire yesterday wrecked the First Reformed Church of Hudson.

The roof of the brick and frame church collapsed. The walls remained standing but the interior was damaged heavily by smoke and water.

The Rev. Alfred H. Van Dyke, pastor, said he "guessed" the loss would range from $200,000 to $250,000.

Firemen said the flames originated in a row of privately owned garages on an alley at the rear of the church and jumped to the church roof. Four garages were destroyed and three others were damaged. They contained only lumber.

Following the early morning fire, devotional services were held on schedule in a movie theatre.

The pastor said the State Christian Endeavor convention May 27-30 would be held in Hudson in other quarters. It had been scheduled for the church.

Big Four Spokesmen Are Ready For Signing of Austrian Treaty

Vienna, Austria, May 9 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers were reported ready today to meet here late this week and sign the Austrian independence treaty now being completed by their ambassadors to Vienna.

British informants in Paris, where the three western ministers are conferring, said Russia has indicated her foreign minister, V. M. Molotov, would see them here about Friday for that purpose.

Accordingly, they said, U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay are preparing to fly to this Austrian capital about Thursday.

The Soviet Union gave the word, the informants reported, in response to a western query sent urgently to Moscow over the weekend. Diplomatic sources had said previously that formal notes would go to Moscow today.

Molotov apparently was prepared to interrupt a Warsaw meeting with foreign ministers of other Communist countries to come here. That meeting, to begin Wednesday, has the announced purpose of setting up an eastern military alliance including East Germany, to counter NATO.

Besides signing the treaty here, the western foreign ministers also are reported planning to spend two or three days in informal discussion with Molotov of the time, place and scope of a projected summer Big Four conference of heads of governments or foreign ministers, aimed to settle east-west tensions in Europe.

The British and French favor Switzerland or Stockholm, Sweden, July.

Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab told the international chief editors conference, opening here today, that the treaty negotiations had progressed so far that none of the powers would be willing to take the blame for failure now. More than 120 newspaper and magazine editors were on hand from 28 nations.

Only a few issues were outstanding in the ambassador's treaty talks and allied and Austrian officials expected them to end today or tomorrow. Diplomatic sources in Paris said yesterday some of the hurdles had been cleared over the weekend.

These sources said the western ministers worked out a formula in the French capital yesterday

One of the first women in New York state to be licensed as a funeral director, Mrs. Humiston was the widow of Howard B. Humiston, who founded the funeral home in 1908. They operated the business together until his death in 1940.

MRS. HUMISTON continued the business, becoming president when it was incorporated in 1951 and she maintained an active interest until her most recent illness in February of this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Humiston were married at Napanoch in 1904. They moved to Kerhonkson in 1907. In addition to operating the funeral home at Kerhonkson since 1908, they established a branch at Ellenville in 1934, and in 1941 purchased a home at the corner of Maiden Lane and Canal street, Ellenville, which they converted into a funeral home.

Mrs. Humiston was a member of the Federated Church of Kerhonkson; Wawarsing Lodge 253, Eastern Star, of Ellenville; Patroon Grange of Accord; was a charter member of the Catskill Mountain Funeral Directors' Association, a member of the New York State Funeral Directors' Association and the National Funeral Directors' Association.

BORN IN WILCOX, Pa., daughter of the late John and Kunigunda Reban Heinzman, she moved to Ellenville at an early age. Her father was president of the old Ellenville Fairgrounds Association.

To Examine All Salk Plants

Vaccination Program Awaits Safety Check

Washington, May 9 (AP)—The nation's polio vaccination program slowed toward a temporary standstill today for a new plant-by-plant safety check by federal health authorities.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele voiced confidence five laboratories now turning out Salk vaccine would get a complete bill of health, and said he hoped the first held-up batches of vaccine would be cleared for immediate use late this week.

Scheele, head of the U. S. Public Health Service, likewise pronounced the vaccine every bit as safe and effective as originally announced.

He assured parents whose children have been vaccinated that "in the very best judgment of the public health service, they have no cause for alarm."

Scheele's announcement — a "strong recommendation" that all vaccinations be suspended for the time being—came as a dramatic Sunday evening finale to a weekend of confusion over the status of the vaccination program.

As late as last Friday, Scheele himself had recommended that the inoculations be continued where vaccine was available. Then early Saturday he suggested a weekend halt in the giving of shots and followed through with yesterday's recommendation for a further delay for what he called "a double check."

MOST STATES seemed disposed to follow Scheele's recommendation. New Jersey and Connecticut, among others, had vaccine supplies ready for the start of shots today, but called a halt. Indiana's health commissioner first said he saw no reason for delay, but later recommended postponement.

Many states had no choice. They lacked sufficient vaccine to start or resume their programs.

But in Michigan, Health Commissioner Albert Heustis said that state's program will continue unless there is a "direct order" not to do so. "We have ample evidence that the vaccine

Passenger Drowns In Ditch Under Overturned Auto

A New York city resident was drowned as the result of an automobile accident on the Woodridge Road in the town of Wawarsing on Sunday.

Leonard L. Wooten, 41, of 101 West 131st street, was pinned under an overturned automobile in a small pool of water in the ditch along the county road, state police reported.

A VERDICT of death by drowning as a result of the accident has been issued by Dr. Charles Rosenstock of Ellenville, an Ulster county coroner.

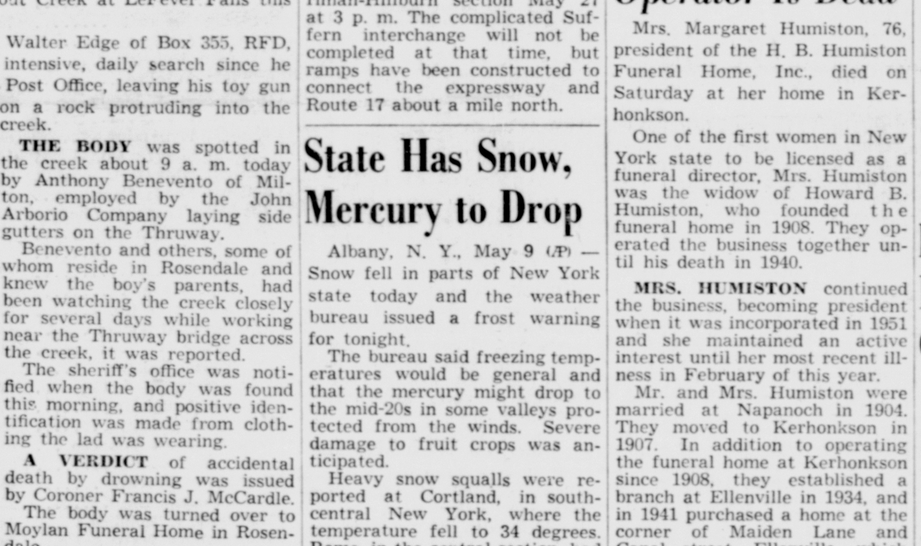

Troopers said Wooten was a passenger in an automobile driven by Johney Oliver, 34, of Woodridge. Oliver was not reported injured.

The automobile was traveling north along the Woodridge road about a mile south of State Route 52 when it failed to negotiate a sharp right curve and overturned on its right side in the west ditch, according to the state police report.

THE ACCIDENT occurred at 8:20 a. m. Sunday in the locality known as Roseland. The pavement was wet and the weather rainy at the time, according to state police.

There was no arrest.

Wooten's body was taken to the Loucks Funeral Home in Ellenville to be transferred today to New York city.

TWO PERSONS WERE INJURED when the automobile, above, was in collision with a tractor-trailer on the East Chester street by-pass about 500 feet north of the Kingston city line at 2 a. m. today, state police reported.

Taken to Kingston Hospital by ambulance were Donald Freer, 23, of 143 Pine Grove avenue, who suffered severe lacerations of the head and face, and Edward Leo Trinkle, age not available, of 40 Murray street, state police reported.

Freer's condition was listed as "fair" and Trinkle's as "good" at the hospital today.

Troopers said the automobile, driven by Trinkle, was in almost headon collision with the tractor-trailer owned by National Freighting Co., Vineland, N. J., and driven by Thomas Cooper of Paulsboro, N. J.

The tractor trailer was traveling north and was struck on its left front side in the northbound lane by the Trinkle car, according to the state police report. No arrest was made.

Hudson Church Fire Does $250,000 Damage Sunday

Hudson, May 9 (AP)—Fire yesterday wrecked the First Reformed Church of Hudson.

The roof of the brick and frame church collapsed. The walls remained standing but the interior was damaged heavily by smoke and water.

The Rev. Alfred H. Van Dyke, pastor, said he "guessed" the loss would range from $200,000 to $250,000.

Firemen said the flames originated in a row of privately owned garages on an alley at the rear of the church and jumped to the church roof. Four garages were destroyed and three others were damaged. They contained only lumber.

Following the early morning fire, devotional services were held on schedule in a movie theatre.

The pastor said the State Christian Endeavor convention May 27-30 would be held in Hudson in other quarters. It had been scheduled for the church.

Big Four Spokesmen Are Ready For Signing of Austrian Treaty

Vienna, Austria, May 9 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers were reported ready today to meet here late this week and sign the Austrian independence treaty now being completed by their ambassadors to Vienna.

British informants in Paris, where the three western ministers are conferring, said Russia has indicated her foreign minister, V. M. Molotov, would see them here about Friday for that purpose.

Accordingly, they said, U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay are preparing to fly to this Austrian capital about Thursday.

The Soviet Union gave the word, the informants reported, in response to a western query sent urgently to Moscow over the weekend. Diplomatic sources had said previously that formal notes would go to Moscow today.

Molotov apparently was prepared to interrupt a Warsaw meeting with foreign ministers of other Communist countries to come here. That meeting, to begin Wednesday, has the announced purpose of setting up an eastern military alliance including East Germany, to counter NATO.

Besides signing the treaty here, the western foreign ministers also are reported planning to spend two or three days in informal discussion with Molotov of the time, place and scope of a projected summer Big Four conference of heads of governments or foreign ministers, aimed to settle east-west tensions in Europe.

The British and French favor Switzerland or Stockholm, Sweden, July.

Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab told the international chief editors conference, opening here today, that the treaty negotiations had progressed so far that none of the powers would be willing to take the blame for failure now. More than 120 newspaper and magazine editors were on hand from 28 nations.

Only a few issues were outstanding in the ambassador's treaty talks and allied and Austrian officials expected them to end today or tomorrow. Diplomatic sources in Paris said yesterday some of the hurdles had been cleared over the weekend.

These sources said the western ministers worked out a formula in the French capital yesterday

Three Injured In Bridge Crash

Three persons were injured, two of them seriously, in a head-on collision on the Rip Van Winkle Bridge on Saturday afternoon.

State police of Claverack identified the injured as Tranguillo Chappel, 42, and his wife, Hilda, 48, of New York city, and Arthur Whitbeck, age unknown, of Hudson.

They were taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital by Citizen's Ambulance Squad of Catskill.

WHITBECK, who suffered a ruptured bladder, compound fracture of the right leg, shock and lacerations of the face and forehead was reported in "poor" condition, according to the state police.

Mrs. Chappel was listed in serious condition with a dislocated left hip, contusions and lacerations, according to the report. Chappel was reported in "good" condition.

Troopers said the accident occurred at 5:17 p. m. Sunday 200 feet from the eastern end of the bridge. Chappel and Whitbeck were listed as drivers of the two vehicles involved.

Big 3 Ministers

for clearing the last barriers to agreement with the Russians on the pact. U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr. flew back from Paris last night with their decisions.

As reported from Paris, the western Big Three agreed they could not promise to go to war to guarantee Austrian neutrality, which the Russians have made their price for ending the occupation. Instead they will join in a declaration "recognizing" the country's neutrality. But this was reported satisfactory to the Soviets.

The British and Americans were reported to have agreed that claims of western oil companies to prewar holdings in Austria should not be allowed to prevent the signing of the treaty. The Russians have agreed to abandon their hold on the oil fields if foreign companies do not return to their prewar position of dominance.

The envoys must agree also on the time schedule for the withdrawal of the occupation troops—44,000 Russians in East Austria, and some 25,000 American, British and French troops in the western part of the country. The question is whether the pullout will be completed by Dec. 31, as the Russians have proposed, if there should be any delay in ratification of the treaty by any of the four occupation powers.

The ambassadors have agreed on most of the other articles of the 30,000-word treaty. Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl said in a weekend speech that differences still existing were "of a minor nature only."

The Austrian government has selected two of Vienna's most splendid palaces—both in the British sector—for the signing ceremonials. The signatures will be affixed in the 200-year-old Belvedere Palace. A state banquet and ball will be held in picturesque Schoenbrunn, where Austria's former emperors ruled for more than 250 years.

Calls Off Inoculations

Hartford, Conn., May 9 (AP)—Connecticut's health department has called off anti-polio inoculations scheduled to begin today, but it has expressed "complete confidence" in the Salk polio vaccine. Many of Connecticut's municipalities were scheduled to start inoculating school children this week—some today. The state's share of the National Polio Foundation supply of Salk vaccine arrived in Connecticut last Thursday night.

Approves of Delay

Albany, May 9 (AP)—The state health commissioner says he is "completely in accord" with the recommendation of the U. S. surgeon-general that the Salk anti-polio inoculation program be delayed another few days. Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe declared yesterday, "I am sure all parents will realize that the delay means their children will receive the benefits of every known safety precaution."

Father of Slain Boy To Fight Delinquency

New York, May 9 (AP)—The father of a 15-year-old boy slain by a youth gang announced today he has sent the rest of his family to a small Pennsylvania town for safety, but will stay here himself to fight juvenile delinquency.

"I am going to stay," William Blankenship, a husky research chemist, told a news conference. "I am going to stay and fight this thing but I'm not going to risk my other boys. Maybe someday they can return. As it stands now, my wife and the two younger boys will remain in Tamaqua."

The Blankenship family originally came to New York from Tamaqua, Pa., and it was there that William Jr., was buried last week. The boy was slain April 30 on a street near his home in the Bronx by youths he did not even know. Two teenagers have been indicted in connection with the crime, one for homicide and the other for rioting.

Blankenship, who was active in the fight against juvenile delinquency before the death of his son, said he has developed a five-point plan to spot and curb delinquency before it gets started.

Railroad Strike Will Be Submitted To Arbitration

Washington, May 9 (AP)—An around-the-clock session of negotiations today produced an agreement to end the prolonged, seomtimes violent Louisville & Nashville Railroad strike on Wednesday.

Strikers are to begin going back to work at 6 a. m., local time at their working place, on Wednesday.

All issues between the striking unions and the management are to be submitted to arbitration.

THE AGREEMENT applies also to affiliated railroads.

In Louisville, the railroad announced it will resume passenger train service next Monday. The announcement said inspection and servicing of cars would delay the passenger service until then.

The framework of the strike-ending agreement was reached almost 24 hours to the dot after negotiations began at 10:30 a. m. (EDT) yesterday a session which ran through the day and night.

Final [illegible] official announcement for more than an hour.

Brush Fire Starts From Fireplace Of Scout Troop

Smokey the bear had a red face this weekend.

Smokey is the friendly bear whose familiar face appears nationwide on posters with messages concerning the prevention of forest fires. Some of his best friends are Boy Scouts and volunteer firemen.

If Smokey could be interviewed today, he'd probably say that "it happens even to the best of them." Or maybe he would point out that fire is no respector of persons, or that no matter how careful a person is you just can't be too careful.

AT ANY RATE, a camp fire got out of hand Saturday afternoon when members of a Boy Scout troop sponsored by Ulster Hose Company were having an outing at the old bluestone quarry section near Lomontville.

About 3 p. m., one of the fires got away from one of the fireplaces and a brush fire started. The Lomontville Fire Department was notified, and volunteers went to fight the blaze along with fire wardens from the area.

ULSTER HOSE also dispatched its small truck with hand-operated water pumps (Indian Pumps), but the fire had been brought under control on its arrival.

Edward F. Dingledey, president of Ulster Hose, noted that fire wardens said that the boys had really done a good job in clearing brush away from the vicinity of the fireplaces, but unfortunately the fire had gotten into underbrush underneath some rocks.

OTHER WEEKEND fires included a call to a dump on the Gilbert property above the Hurley Mountain Road about 7:15 p. m. Saturday. The Hurley Fire Department, through a misunderstanding, proceeded first to the Hurley village dump, but was rerouted to the proper location and extinguished the blaze. Sawkill Fire Department was also called to a dump fire during the weekend.

West Germany

public session and recessed for lunch. Discussions resumed this afternoon in private session.

With the formalities out of the way the ministers were to discuss prospects for a Big Four meeting this summer on major world problems, particularly German reunification.

Other talks during the meeting may range as far afield as Formosa and Indochina. Conceived as an alliance to defend western Europe, NATO has become more and more a worldwide organization because its members' problems often are global in scope.

Phony Bomb Alarm

New York, May 9 (AP)—The 530 pupils at St. Agnes Parochial School got a half holiday today because of a phony bomb alarm. An anonymous call to police headquarters that a bomb had been set in the school on 44th street near Lexington avenue sent officials searching fruitlessly through the building. Classes were dismissed while the hunt was on and school officials later decided to close up for the rest of the day.

Big 3 Ministers

for clearing the last barriers to agreement with the Russians on the pact. U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr. flew back from Paris last night with their decisions.

As reported from Paris, the western Big Three agreed they could not promise to go to war to guarantee Austrian neutrality, which the Russians have made their price for ending the occupation. Instead they will join in a declaration "recognizing" the country's neutrality. But this was reported satisfactory to the Soviets.

The British and Americans were reported to have agreed that claims of western oil companies to prewar holdings in Austria should not be allowed to prevent the signing of the treaty. The Russians have agreed to abandon their hold on the oil fields if foreign companies do not return to their prewar position of dominance.

The envoys must agree also on the time schedule for the withdrawal of the occupation troops—44,000 Russians in East Austria, and some 25,000 American, British and French troops in the western part of the country. The question is whether the pullout will be completed by Dec. 31, as the Russians have proposed, if there should be any delay in ratification of the treaty by any of the four occupation powers.

The ambassadors have agreed on most of the other articles of the 30,000-word treaty. Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl said in a weekend speech that differences still existing were "of a minor nature only."

The Austrian government has selected two of Vienna's most splendid palaces—both in the British sector—for the signing ceremonials. The signatures will be affixed in the 200-year-old Belvedere Palace. A state banquet and ball will be held in picturesque Schoenbrunn, where Austria's former emperors ruled for more than 250 years.

Calls Off Inoculations

Hartford, Conn., May 9 (AP)—Connecticut's health department has called off anti-polio inoculations scheduled to begin today, but it has expressed "complete confidence" in the Salk polio vaccine. Many of Connecticut's municipalities were scheduled to start inoculating school children this week—some today. The state's share of the National Polio Foundation supply of Salk vaccine arrived in Connecticut last Thursday night.

Approves of Delay

Albany, May 9 (AP)—The state health commissioner says he is "completely in accord" with the recommendation of the U. S. surgeon-general that the Salk anti-polio inoculation program be delayed another few days. Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe declared yesterday, "I am sure all parents will realize that the delay means their children will receive the benefits of every known safety precaution."

Father of Slain Boy To Fight Delinquency

New York, May 9 (AP)—The father of a 15-year-old boy slain by a youth gang announced today he has sent the rest of his family to a small Pennsylvania town for safety, but will stay here himself to fight juvenile delinquency.

"I am going to stay," William Blankenship, a husky research chemist, told a news conference. "I am going to stay and fight this thing but I'm not going to risk my other boys. Maybe someday they can return. As it stands now, my wife and the two younger boys will remain in Tamaqua."

The Blankenship family originally came to New York from Tamaqua, Pa., and it was there that William Jr., was buried last week. The boy was slain April 30 on a street near his home in the Bronx by youths he did not even know. Two teenagers have been indicted in connection with the crime, one for homicide and the other for rioting.

Blankenship, who was active in the fight against juvenile delinquency before the death of his son, said he has developed a five-point plan to spot and curb delinquency before it gets started.

Railroad Strike Will Be Submitted To Arbitration

Washington, May 9 (AP)—An around-the-clock session of negotiations today produced an agreement to end the prolonged, seomtimes violent Louisville & Nashville Railroad strike on Wednesday.

Strikers are to begin going back to work at 6 a. m., local time at their working place, on Wednesday.

All issues between the striking unions and the management are to be submitted to arbitration.

THE AGREEMENT applies also to affiliated railroads.

There is a clause, not made public, concerning what action the L&N may take against strikers it accuses of violence and damage to company property.

In Louisville, the railroad announced it will resume passenger train service next Monday. The announcement said inspection and servicing of cars would delay the passenger service until then.

The framework of the strike-ending agreement was reached almost 24 hours to the dot after negotiations began at 10:30 a. m. (EDT) yesterday a session which ran through the day and night.

Final [illegible] official announcement for more than an hour.

General Sessions Judge Louis J. Capazzoli continued him in $2,500 bail. No trial date was set. The indictment was returned May 2 in the New York county district attorney's investigation resulting from a raid on a wiretap plant in an East 55th street apartment.

Brush Fire Starts From Fireplace Of Scout Troop

Smokey the bear had a red face this weekend.

Smokey is the friendly bear whose familiar face appears nationwide on posters with messages concerning the prevention of forest fires. Some of his best friends are Boy Scouts and volunteer firemen.

If Smokey could be interviewed today, he'd probably say that "it happens even to the best of them." Or maybe he would point out that fire is no respector of persons, or that no matter how careful a person is you just can't be too careful.

AT ANY RATE, a camp fire got out of hand Saturday afternoon when members of a Boy Scout troop sponsored by Ulster Hose Company were having an outing at the old bluestone quarry section near Lomontville.

About 3 p. m., one of the fires got away from one of the fireplaces and a brush fire started. The Lomontville Fire Department was notified, and volunteers went to fight the blaze along with fire wardens from the area.

ULSTER HOSE also dispatched its small truck with hand-operated water pumps (Indian Pumps), but the fire had been brought under control on its arrival.

Edward F. Dingledey, president of Ulster Hose, noted that fire wardens said that the boys had really done a good job in clearing brush away from the vicinity of the fireplaces, but unfortunately the fire had gotten into underbrush underneath some rocks.

OTHER WEEKEND fires included a call to a dump on the Gilbert property above the Hurley Mountain Road about 7:15 p. m. Saturday. The Hurley Fire Department, through a misunderstanding, proceeded first to the Hurley village dump, but was rerouted to the proper location and extinguished the blaze. Sawkill Fire Department was also called to a dump fire during the weekend.

public session and recessed for lunch. Discussions resumed this afternoon in private session.

With the formalities out of the way the ministers were to discuss prospects for a Big Four meeting this summer on major world problems, particularly German reunification.

Other talks during the meeting may range as far afield as Formosa and Indochina. Conceived as an alliance to defend western Europe, NATO has become more and more a worldwide organization because its members' problems often are global in scope.

Phony Bomb Alarm

New York, May 9 (AP)—The 530 pupils at St. Agnes Parochial School got a half holiday today because of a phony bomb alarm. An anonymous call to police headquarters that a bomb had been set in the school on 44th street near Lexington avenue sent officials searching fruitlessly through the building. Classes were dismissed while the hunt was on and school officials later decided to close up for the rest of the day.

Kitchen Range Fire

Firemen were called at 11:39 a. m., Sunday to 184 Hurley avenue where grease in a kitchen range in the second-floor apartment of Frank S. Bradley had caght fire. No serious damage was reported.

To My Mother

By FRANK TRIPP

We have come again to Mother's Day, one of man's noblest inventions. A contrite memorial in which all may share; one of the few things left upon which all humans may agree; that Mother was the greatest woman in the world.

Blest is the man who need not use this past tense; whose mother still is with him. Yet how tragic that he must lose her to truly know the depth, tenderness and certainty of mother love.

There is a saintly boldness about mother love that defies description. Nowhere else in life do we encounter like understanding of our whims, like tolerance of our faults, or equal daring in our defense.

We find new and different loves, in wife, husband, children and bosom pals, but none is so steeled to unrelenting constancy as is Mother.

THOUGHTLESSNESS is one of man's most grievous faults. That we often inflict it upon those whom we love most is shameful; because, we think, they will understand, and forgive.

My dear mother may have forgiven the needless times that I neglected her for transient, selfish things, but I have never forgiven myself. After she was gone, long forgotten occasions flashed back to haunt me, do to this day.

The times I could have been with her, when she wanted me so much — but I was busy. I know now that nothing hurts more than a child's thoughtlessness of the feelings of his parents; even a father comes to know the pangs — but none so cruelly as Mother.

MY MOTHER outlived my dad by seven years, and she was lonely, but always kept her own little home. I had the false notion that I was giving Mother everything I could; rather gloried in the plenty that was hers.

I know now that she was starved. I was too "busy" providing the comforts that she wanted least, and robbing her of the one she wanted most—her boy.

Her fool, who wrote of her the night she died:

TO MY MOTHER. What is it to grieve? I thought I knew. I thought those all-alone-shed tears for dad just used up all the grief I had. I find it was not so.

My mother's gone. I can't believe it. Seemed as though she was a part of me, to stay as long as I. I never even stopped to think that Mother had to die. Until the years brought feeble days and bothered mind, I just took her for granted, now I find.

I'm thinking back to boyhood years, to happy hours, and childhood tears; to dirty hands and curly hair, when started Mother's endless care.

And then of early youth, quite wild, when just the same I was her child; yes, even on through manhood's trials and joy; right to the end, I stayed "her boy."

NOTHING THAT man encounters on this earth approaches mother love. No words that he can speak, no lines that he can write, will bring out of his heart the feeling that is there for Mother.

There is no way to repay Mother, save that parenthood is everlasting, from generation unto generation; and one can only meet the debt by paying in kind to his own children.

Thus down through time, and into eternity, extends this great force, mother love, without which man would be poor indeed. Abraham Lincoln said it best for all men:

"All that I am, I owe to my Mother."

Only Shell Premium with TCP gives you the full benefit of High Octane Gasoline

If it weren't for the fact that most of our driving is local driving—short-trip driving—any good high octane gasoline would do a fine job in today's more powerful engines.

But this kind of driving increases the formation of certain deposits within the combustion chambers. These deposits, if not neutralized, rob even the finest engines of a considerable amount of their power.

And high octane alone will not keep high compression engines delivering their full power. To overcome deposits, these engines need a gasoline with a special kind of additive.

Here's why:

As your engine warms up, these deposits warm up, too—glow red hot. And these glowing particles act like hot coals—ignite the gasoline mixture ahead of time . . . before the pistons reach proper firing position. This is called pre-firing and means that power works against you instead of for you.

In addition, these same deposits have another power-wasting effect: They foul spark plugs, causing your engine to miss.

Engineers will tell you there's nothing more wasteful of power and gasoline than pre-firing and spark plug "miss."

But there is an answer—there's one high octane gasoline that gives you all the advantages of high octane without the power-crippling effects of these deposits—Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP*.

TCP, the Shell-developed additive, fireproofs the deposits so that they no longer cause pre-firing. No longer can they glow red hot and ignite the gasoline mixture. And TCP stops spark plug "miss," too. Your spark plugs do the job they are supposed to do.

Start getting the full power built into your engine. Get Shell Premium with TCP. It's the most powerful gasoline your car can use!

PIERCING VACCINE FOG

Unhappily, the events surrounding the distribution and use of the Salk polio vaccine have become clouded with confusion in recent days. It might be well to try to sort out some of the key facts obscured by these happenings.

A few questions have risen sharply in the minds of American parents as result of developments:

Have disclosures that some inoculated children contracted polio done anything to upset the Salk test findings that the vaccine is not harmful and is from 60 to 90 per cent effective as a preventative?

It is the judgment of a board of experts, on which Dr. Jonas Salk himself sat, that the vaccine is safe and that nationwide vaccination ought to proceed. Several million children already have received their shots. The relatively few cases in which polio developed fall well within the expected occurrence for a vaccine that is admittedly not yet perfect.

The experts made an exception of the vaccine prepared by the Cutter laboratories, since most of the recent cases occurred among children inoculated by this particular preparation. This is mere precaution, allowing opportunity for careful study. Up to now no evidence exists that the Cutter product falls short of the rigid specifications set by Dr. Salk and the National Health Institute.

Will there be enough vaccine available to inoculate all children in time to protect them during the summer peak of the polio season?

The most reliable reports suggest that by July there will be enough to treat some 30 million children — roughly half the total who should get it. But before the summer is over, supplies should be sufficient to care for the remainder. Presumably in every community first attention will be paid to those children in the most susceptible age brackets.

Do we need federal controls to assure fair and speedy distribution of the vaccine and to curb possible black markets?

A good many lawmakers and others say we do, that otherwise chaos is sure. But President Eisenhower's advisory committee on polio still feels a voluntary plan of priorities and controls will work.

Many states and localities are now providing legal sanctions against abuses of established distribution systems. This demonstrates that the need for a policing authority is definitely felt.

The only question would seem to be whether local and state plans can be adopted swiftly enough—and be given enough teeth—to prevent sluicing off of important vaccine supplies into the hands of black marketeers. In many quarters there are honest doubts on this score.

Secretary Hobby of the Health, Education and Welfare Department has promised to recommend federal control if it should be deemed necessary. Some lawmakers are putting in bills for U. S. control, which could take the decision out of her hands.

What we must clearly avoid is a policy of dangerous drift. The lives and the robust bodies of our children are at stake. The moment it becomes plain—if it does—that voluntary and state-local controls are not working, the American people will expect Mrs. Hobby to adhere to the strict letter of her promise to act.

WHY PAYS THE TAXES?

Do you ever hear it argued that the way to solve the tax problem is to soak the bloated millionaires harder?

In a recent year, the Internal Revenue Service reports, 171 individuals had incomes of $1,000,000 or more. They earned a total of $344,640,000, of which the federal government alone took $213,654,000 in taxes. If it had taken it all, it would have amounted to less than one per cent of the government's revenue that year.

So it looks like we can't turn to the millionaires to carry the load. Most of the taxes, sad as the fact may be, must be paid by people of moderate means.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

MAO AND CHOU

It is usual for governments to become aware of the peculiarities and significance of the personalities with whom they have to deal in another country. Thus, when Litvinov was the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, he seemed a very significant personality although the fact always was that he never played a great role in the Kremlin. While Molotov is a greater figure than Litvinov, he never was as important as Stalin nor is he on a par today with Khrushchev.

Similarly, while an enormous build-up seems to be in the making for Chou En-lai, who attends international conferences and conducts the foreign policy of his country, the fact is that the boss is Mao Tze-tung whose prestige is colossal not only in Red China but throughout the Communist world. He is regarded as the foremost Marxist theoretician of this period and his writings have been collected and published in all languages. As a Marxist thinker, he is considered superior to any Russian of these days.

It is foolhardy to believe that Mao Tze-tung has been replaced by Chou En-lai or that the latter can make a move without the approval of Mao and through him of the international Communist organization which centers in the Kremlin. The Soviet universe is one and is centrally directed.

Mao, like Stalin, remains aloof because, in his position, it is difficult to retreat from a stand once taken. Chou's situation is more like Molotov's. While he represents the point of view of the Politburo, he may shift or even retreat without loss of dignity. The current effort to give Europeans and Americans an incorrect picture of Chou's position is characteristic of Mao's reticence in dealing with foreigners for whom he has no liking.

Mao Tze-tung is a curious man. Essentially a student of philosophy, he is not a man of action. Nevertheless he has lived in an armed camp most of his adult life and has been forced by circumstances to forego the classroom for the world of intense and dangerous action. With General Chu Teh, he kept the Communist army intact and in fighting condition for about 30 years. Now that he can have his way, he has resumed the contemplative life.

A Marxist since his student days at the Peking National University, he never defected to the Trotzkyist side as did so many of the early Chinese Communists. He accepted discipline and now demands obedience.

Born in 1893 in Hunan Province, he set out to be a professor and studied under such men as Hu Shih and Monling Chiang. He was a founder of the Chinese Communist Party in 1921 when the leader was Chen Tu-shu, also a philosopher and highly respected among Chinese. Chen had come under the influence of Karl Radek, an early Bolshevik leader who for a time directed the China policy of Soviet Russia.

After the 1925-27 Revolution, which brought Chiang Kai-shek to power, Chen Tu-shu and other Trotzkyists were ousted from the leadership of the Chinese Communist Party and Chu Teh and Mao Tze-tung rose. In fact, references to this leadership in the early days were to Chu-Mao.

Mao Tze-tung overcame the superiority of Chu Teh without in any way destroying their personal or political friendship. Simply, Chu Teh, the military man, became second to Mao Tze-tung, the political thinker. Chu never protested his reduction; he accepted it as normal that a superior mind should dominate a military activist. After the Hunan Autumn Uprising in 1927, Mai Tze-tung's leadership of the Chinese Communist Party was unquestioned. This uprising is significant becouse it marks the final split betwen the Kuomintang (Nationalists) and the Communists after Chiang had established the Nanking Government.

In the organization of the Communist Government of Peking, Mao Tze-tung has been the top figure since 1949 when it came into existence. His close associates are Chu Teh and Liu Shao-chi. Should Mao die, it is likely that Liu Shao-chi will emerge to the top, just as in Soviet Russia, it was not Molotov but Khrushchev who emerged as leader. At present the leadership in China consists, in order, of Mao Tze-tung, Chu Teh, Liu Shao-chi, Chen Yun and Chou En-lai.

In the current stage of political development in Communist countries, it is extremely important to know in which personalities political power is vested. Otherwise the situation becomes blurred.

REMOVAL OF GALL BLADDER

The operation for removal of the gall bladder known as cholecystectomy, is a fairly common one nowadays and is performed with completely successful results in a great many persons. We do hear, however, of various individuals who seem to feel no better after the operation than they did before. Why is this? Dr. P. Thorlakson, in the Canadian Medical Association, points out that the degree of relief a patient may obtain from removal of the gall bladder is in direct proportion to the relationship of all his complaints to the offending gallstones. "Thus, if his symptoms are entirely due to the gall bladder disease, his recovery should be complete provided delay has not allowed the process to involve irreparably such structures as the common duct, pancreas or live."

Unfortunately many cases are not so straightforward and uncomplicated. For example, a patient may need to have cholecystectomy to remove stones but if, in addition, he is suffering from gassy indigestion due to his nerves, an irritable colon, peptic ulcer or coronary disease, the relief he will obtain from operation will not be complete. A patient with gallstones whose only symptom is gassy dyspepsia or intolerance to fatty foods, should not be advised to have immediate surgery for the purpose of relieving the dyspepsia. If the disease is extreme, surgery will be performed eventually but these patients sometimes do well on medicine and diet, only.

Some reasons given for failure in gallstone surgery are:

1. Incomplete history of case and insufficient investigation before operation.

2. Poor selection and preparation of patients for surgery in the group in which gassy dyspepsia and nervous instability are present.

3. Removal of a gall bladder which does not contain stones because of failure to perform X-ray examination completely.

4. Failure to remove stones from the common bile duct or incomplete removal of gall bladder.

5. Delay in surgical treatment until common duct infection and stones and liver or pancreas involvment have occurred.

Now there is no doubt that early removal of the gall bladder is the wisest thing to do in most cases when gallstones are discovered because of the possible danger of future complications, such as perforation with peritonitis or abscess, stone in common duct, jaundice, inflammation of the liver, inflammation of the pancreas, cancer of the gall bladder, stoppage of the small bowel and others. However, in cases where the patient not only has gallstones but some of the conditions mentioned above—gassy indigestion, peptic ulcer, an irritable bowel, coronary artery disease—he cannot expect complete relief from all his symptoms just by having the gall bladder removed.

Calamity Howlers We Have With Us Always

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA)—Conditions in free, southern Viet Nam have changed so rapidly from day to day that any simplification of the complex local political issues involved is impossible.

From a distance, however, several international aspects of the situation are subject to clarification. They concern the Washington and Paris background.

It is considered most fortunate that Gen. J. Lawton Collins, President Eisenhower's personal ambassador to Viet Nam, was in Washington when Premier Ngo Dinh Diem seized power. The general's absence from his post was criticized by Rep. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) but this view is not widely held.

If General Collins had been in Saigon, Communist propaganda would have placed blame for the revolt on the United States. It would have been pictured as an American-engineered plot to overthrow the French puppet Chief of State Bao Dai.

THERE HAS BEEN a great deal of loose talk to the effect that Premier Diem is an American "puppet." Actually, he was picked by the French.

He came orginally from the formerly French-dominated part of northern Viet Nam. This did not make him too popular in southern Viet Nam. But he was regarded as honest and incorruptible—rare in his country. He was Catholic and not connected with any of the native religious sects.

The fact that Diem was an intense nationalist was in this case overlooked by the French. They knew that no leader could succeed in restoring order if he were pro-French.

The premier's weaknesses were recognized by both Americans and French. He is not a good administrator. He cannot delegate authority. He cannot gather around him a team of loyal Vietnamese who could form a government strong enough to fight communism.

Premier Diem was backed by the United States as the French-picked, recognized head of government. He was given considerable coaching and backbone by General Collins.

BUT IT HAS BEEN recognized all along that Diem might resign because he was so shy, or might fail and be kicked out.

When the French complained that he would not do and must be replaced American officials dealing with the situation said in effect, "All right, who replaces him?"

Invariably the French failed to come up with a better man. So the situation drifed from worse to bad.

The idea that the situation has been under complete United States control is also said to be incorrect.

U.S. foreign aid dollars have paid the piper. They have saved what there is left of the country after the Geneva cease-fire and sellout. The French fiddlers in Paris have always called the tune.

One important factor has been that the United States has had to play along with the French to get ratification of the London and Paris agreements to rearm western Germany. The deciding question for Washington has always been that European unity was more important than Vietnamese unity.

IF THE UNITED STATES had been given a free hand in Indochina, it is believed the entire situation there might be different today.

For one thing, it is regarded as a safe speculation that Emperor Bao Dai would not have lasted as long as he has.

It is admitted that the emperor has a native following. But it is an open secret that he has been supported in luxury on the French Riviera by graft from the river pirates who control the police and the vice and gambling concessions.

The take from this source has been estimated at millions of dollars a year. It has also supported an extensive lobby in Paris. This lobby has influenced French officialdom into continuing support of Bao Dai and the old-style colonialism.

It has been recognized in Washington that this situation could not go on forever. Americans like General Collins and Lt. Gen. John Wilson O'Daniel, in charge of training the Vietnamese army, have been plugging along as best they could. They have made considerable progress.

Diem's seizure of power while General Collins was in Washington was a hopeful sign.

But in the back of everyone's mind has been full realization that if the situation in Viet Nam became intolerable, the United States might have to pull out.

Today in Europe

Talk About Peace Seen Stemming From Russian Strategy to Hide Real Facts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Paris, May 9—On the surface there's a wave of peace talk. It's the kind that can deceive millions of people everywhere and dash their hopes in bitter disappointment when they learn the sad truth. The top government officials in the Allied governments indulge in the peace talk because they are forced into it by Soviet strategy on the one hand and by political influences on the other.

Having no political axes to grind and having no responsibility to any political party or faction, this writer can give the facts as he finds them, unpleasant though they may be.

For one thing, United States government officials privately haven't any illusions about what is happening. They know the Soviet leopard hasn't changed his spots, but, for various reasons, this isn't the time to stand off and say so.

TO DO THIS would put a crimp in the election campaign of the British Conservatives, and it is an open secret that many of our officials fear that a Labor Socialist victory might mean that World War III would be brought nearer rather than made remote as the Socialists claim. This is because the Socialist Labor party leaders favor appeasement not only in Europe, just as Chamberlain did in 1938, but they favor it in the Far East, and this could bring on a war with Red China. In fact, a British election victory for the Laborites may touch off the Far Eastern war because of a mistaken belief by the Reds that the time to strike is when America and Britain are farthest apart.

There will, therefore, be a public statement saying America favors a four-power conference to discuss German unification but not to take up any Far Eastern issues. It is difficult at this stage of the game to see what any four-power conference could accomplish. For, if there had been anything to negotiate on the part of the Russians, they could have taken it up with the American Ambassador in Moscow, Charles E. Bohlen, who speaks Russian fluently. No ambassador from any other country has received any proposals that could be the basis for a European settlement.

BUT THE Communists see a big propaganda advantage in a four-power conference. It enhances their prestige and keeps the Western world guessing. If there had been any real desire to relieve tension, the Soviet and Red China governments would be showing it in concrete ways. Hundreds of Americans are still held prisoner in Red China. The Anglo-Soviet and the Franco-Soviet treaties have just been formally annulled. And there is no let-up in the propaganda of denunciation.

To notify the world, moreover, that President Eisenhower's recent correspondence with Marshal Zhukov is meaningless, the Communist leaders wrote an article for the marshal to sign which has just appeared in "Pravda." It denounces the Western countries as warmongers. Also a meeting of all the satellites has been called at Warshaw to establish a Communist military alliance, which has been called a "Red NATO," as a counter-measure to the West's North Atlantic Treaty Organization, into which West Germany now has been admitted.

ALL THESE moves add up a reaffirmation of Communi imperialism and aggressive pu poses, but the top officials Britain, France and the Unite States, pressed by electorate which are swallowing appease ment talk, now have apparentl decided to ignore the bellicos moves of the Communists and act as if they were not happe ing.

Hence, there will be publ statements made indicating plan to work up a four-powe conference. The signing of th Austrian treaty, which has bee held up for ten years by Sovie strategy, is being hailed as sign of the friendly purposes the Communists. Actually, it's strategic move in the larg game, which aims to split Ge many off from the West.

ALREADY inside West Ge many, now a sovereign state, th Communists have succeeded dividing the political parties these tactics, which hold fort the bait of unification. There a well informed persons who a willing to take bets that not German soldier will be delivere to NATO in the next four yea and that West Germans will fi themselves faced with the ter ble alternative of withdrawi from NATO or facing a conti uation of their country's divisio Will the West Germans s through the scheme to ke them neutral and detached fro any military alliance so as make easier the control fro within of the undefended cou try by influences favorable Soviet Russia?

It isn't all sweetness and ligh therefore, in Europe despite th proposed four-power conferenc and the plans to withdraw troo from Austria after a new trea is signed. These facts constitu an unpleasant realism, but th Western world in the peri prior to two world wars learne only the hard way. Maybe th will have to happen again.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

San Diego, May 8—While aeronautic genius projects the impudence of man into space far beyond man's own ability to go, his success with high-speed aircraft is dashing him against crude barriers down on his own homely ground. He can fly eight miles high and live to write about it. He can fly a motorized kite to a pin-point goal a thousand miles away with only slight super-vision from a motorman to keep the kite on the track.

He can fly and steer an uninhabited bomb on kiwi, wings. But he is flying so fast in such big masses of machinery that he is running out of space for commercial landing fields near enough to the cities to justify flight. The military aircraft base is fixed and vulnerable. And now the water-based flying machine, which disappeared during the war, victim of its own bulk and clumsiness, has advocates who exploit the advantage of natural water-ports over the artificial fields on land.

These matters are commonplace to great men of aviation who think in mysterious realms which primitive flights on canvas wings has led them to in the split-second of time since Kitty Hawk. But in the layman they bestir the yokel's awe on circus day. I would exclaim that there ain't no such animal. But to Claude Ryan, who first saw man in flight when Cal Rogers went by Parsons, Kan., in 1911, such marvels are ordinary and greater marvels to come when he is gone are inevitable. Cal Rogers on that first coast-to-coast trip was flying a rickety kite labelled "Vin Fizz" to advertise a new belly-wash with a synthetic grape flavor which Armour, the packing house, tried to substitute for Coca Cola. He cracked up so often that little remained of the original plane when he reached California. But he got his prize and the flight became historic.

Ryan has a picture of himself at the age of 13 waiting for Rogers and other pictures of a growing American who later made the Lindbergh plane and now manufactures hulls and portions of engines which are shipped out of San Diego's great aeronautical center for inclusion in many ships and engines. The industry interlocks like the gears of its own machines. It grows more and more inter-dependent. A beautiful hoop of steel, done to the luster of jewelry in a sunlit shop on the very shore of the Pacific, may become part of an engine put together in Hartford.

Ernest G. Stout, of Convair, writes in a professional jargon that would suffocate the interest of the people whose future may be governed to a great extent by facts which he tries to convey. Stout believes in the water-based flying machine. He explains, first, that the soldier fliers used to decide what craft should be made and tell the industry to make them, with appropriate spares.

"With the advent of supersonic speed, nuclear and thermonuclear weapons and the elaborate networks of electronic aids for both guidance and detection of these weapons," the soldier fliers had to throw themselves on the superior knowledge of the aircraft industry and the universities, so that now the aircraft contractor has the duty of adjusting new concepts to the problems of deployment, expense to the nation and co-ordination with other weapons. More and more, the cult of the air and the sciences is making its own final decisions and turning planes over to the soldiers — and the navy, of course—for the relatively simple work of flight.

Mr. Stout has deplored as a fault of the land-based warcraft its "immobility, time of preparation and inherent concentration." In other words, the great swift bombers must have really vast fields of the smoothest runs and cannot improvise other homes.

Up to the start of World War 2 water-based ships flew the Atlantic and pioneered "all th world's routes of aerial com merce" as most of us will r member. But during the wa "the flying boat with its cum bersome hull and low perform ance was relegated to a minc role." So a few experts of th navy's bureau of aeronautic the national advisory commi tee for aeronautics, and Convai resolved "to do something."

After Hiroshima, "masse force, tied to large fixed base was destined to be a thing the past with future em phasis directed toward dispe sion and mobility." To cu across lots, they have develope a lean, clean ship with the out ward features of the landbase jets, which can use waters generally unlimited length an breadth. Some has retractabl skis and none use the old clums buoys on the ends of the wing All have a wide choice of har bors, which cost nothing an cannot be blown up.

This discussion has dealt onl with war-craft, but Mr. Stou and his school gently observ that most of the important cen ters of the world are built be side waters very inviting fo passenger and freight ships. Ic in season seems not to embar rass them and, for a fact, there are few big American port where ice would cause much trouble very long at a time. Lines of small land-based plane could serve as feeders to Paris and Berlin for example. New York does not freeze up. Nor Boston. Lakes Michigan and Erie do not often freeze very far offshore. On the other hand, the vastness required for big land-based jet ships will shove the bases farther and farther from town, when already the time lost between airport and city is devouring much of the time saved by flight.

PIERCING VACCINE FOG

Unhappily, the events surrounding the distribution and use of the Salk polio vaccine have become clouded with confusion in recent days. It might be well to try to sort out some of the key facts obscured by these happenings.

A few questions have risen sharply in the minds of American parents as result of developments:

Have disclosures that some inoculated children contracted polio done anything to upset the Salk test findings that the vaccine is not harmful and is from 60 to 90 per cent effective as a preventative?

It is the judgment of a board of experts, on which Dr. Jonas Salk himself sat, that the vaccine is safe and that nationwide vaccination ought to proceed. Several million children already have received their shots. The relatively few cases in which polio developed fall well within the expected occurrence for a vaccine that is admittedly not yet perfect.

The experts made an exception of the vaccine prepared by the Cutter laboratories, since most of the recent cases occurred among children inoculated by this particular preparation. This is mere precaution, allowing opportunity for careful study. Up to now no evidence exists that the Cutter product falls short of the rigid specifications set by Dr. Salk and the National Health Institute.

Will there be enough vaccine available to inoculate all children in time to protect them during the summer peak of the polio season?

The most reliable reports suggest that by July there will be enough to treat some 30 million children — roughly half the total who should get it. But before the summer is over, supplies should be sufficient to care for the remainder. Presumably in every community first attention will be paid to those children in the most susceptible age brackets.

Do we need federal controls to assure fair and speedy distribution of the vaccine and to curb possible black markets?

A good many lawmakers and others say we do, that otherwise chaos is sure. But President Eisenhower's advisory committee on polio still feels a voluntary plan of priorities and controls will work.

Many states and localities are now providing legal sanctions against abuses of established distribution systems. This demonstrates that the need for a policing authority is definitely felt.

The only question would seem to be whether local and state plans can be adopted swiftly enough—and be given enough teeth—to prevent sluicing off of important vaccine supplies into the hands of black marketeers. In many quarters there are honest doubts on this score.

Secretary Hobby of the Health, Education and Welfare Department has promised to recommend federal control if it should be deemed necessary. Some lawmakers are putting in bills for U. S. control, which could take the decision out of her hands.

What we must clearly avoid is a policy of dangerous drift. The lives and the robust bodies of our children are at stake. The moment it becomes plain—if it does—that voluntary and state-local controls are not working, the American people will expect Mrs. Hobby to adhere to the strict letter of her promise to act.

WHY PAYS THE TAXES?

Do you ever hear it argued that the way to solve the tax problem is to soak the bloated millionaires harder?

In a recent year, the Internal Revenue Service reports, 171 individuals had incomes of $1,000,000 or more. They earned a total of $344,640,000, of which the federal government alone took $213,654,000 in taxes. If it had taken it all, it would have amounted to less than one per cent of the government's revenue that year.

So it looks like we can't turn to the millionaires to carry the load. Most of the taxes, sad as the fact may be, must be paid by people of moderate means.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

MAO AND CHOU

It is usual for governments to become aware of the peculiarities and significance of the personalities with whom they have to deal in another country. Thus, when Litvinov was the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, he seemed a very significant personality although the fact always was that he never played a great role in the Kremlin. While Molotov is a greater figure than Litvinov, he never was as important as Stalin nor is he on a par today with Khrushchev.

Similarly, while an enormous build-up seems to be in the making for Chou En-lai, who attends international conferences and conducts the foreign policy of his country, the fact is that the boss is Mao Tze-tung whose prestige is colossal not only in Red China but throughout the Communist world. He is regarded as the foremost Marxist theoretician of this period and his writings have been collected and published in all languages. As a Marxist thinker, he is considered superior to any Russian of these days.

It is foolhardy to believe that Mao Tze-tung has been replaced by Chou En-lai or that the latter can make a move without the approval of Mao and through him of the international Communist organization which centers in the Kremlin. The Soviet universe is one and is centrally directed.

Mao, like Stalin, remains aloof because, in his position, it is difficult to retreat from a stand once taken. Chou's situation is more like Molotov's. While he represents the point of view of the Politburo, he may shift or even retreat without loss of dignity. The current effort to give Europeans and Americans an incorrect picture of Chou's position is characteristic of Mao's reticence in dealing with foreigners for whom he has no liking.

Mao Tze-tung is a curious man. Essentially a student of philosophy, he is not a man of action. Nevertheless he has lived in an armed camp most of his adult life and has been forced by circumstances to forego the classroom for the world of intense and dangerous action. With General Chu Teh, he kept the Communist army intact and in fighting condition for about 30 years. Now that he can have his way, he has resumed the contemplative life.

A Marxist since his student days at the Peking National University, he never defected to the Trotzkyist side as did so many of the early Chinese Communists. He accepted discipline and now demands obedience.

Born in 1893 in Hunan Province, he set out to be a professor and studied under such men as Hu Shih and Monling Chiang. He was a founder of the Chinese Communist Party in 1921 when the leader was Chen Tu-shu, also a philosopher and highly respected among Chinese. Chen had come under the influence of Karl Radek, an early Bolshevik leader who for a time directed the China policy of Soviet Russia.

After the 1925-27 Revolution, which brought Chiang Kai-shek to power, Chen Tu-shu and other Trotzkyists were ousted from the leadership of the Chinese Communist Party and Chu Teh and Mao Tze-tung rose. In fact, references to this leadership in the early days were to Chu-Mao.

Mao Tze-tung overcame the superiority of Chu Teh without in any way destroying their personal or political friendship. Simply, Chu Teh, the military man, became second to Mao Tze-tung, the political thinker. Chu never protested his reduction; he accepted it as normal that a superior mind should dominate a military activist. After the Hunan Autumn Uprising in 1927, Mai Tze-tung's leadership of the Chinese Communist Party was unquestioned. This uprising is significant becouse it marks the final split betwen the Kuomintang (Nationalists) and the Communists after Chiang had established the Nanking Government.

In the organization of the Communist Government of Peking, Mao Tze-tung has been the top figure since 1949 when it came into existence. His close associates are Chu Teh and Liu Shao-chi. Should Mao die, it is likely that Liu Shao-chi will emerge to the top, just as in Soviet Russia, it was not Molotov but Khrushchev who emerged as leader. At present the leadership in China consists, in order, of Mao Tze-tung, Chu Teh, Liu Shao-chi, Chen Yun and Chou En-lai.

In the current stage of political development in Communist countries, it is extremely important to know in which personalities political power is vested. Otherwise the situation becomes blurred.

IF THE UNITED STATES had been given a free hand in Indochina, it is believed the entire situation there might be different today.

For one thing, it is regarded as a safe speculation that Emperor Bao Dai would not have lasted as long as he has.

It is admitted that the emperor has a native following. But it is an open secret that he has been supported in luxury on the French Riviera by graft from the river pirates who control the police and the vice and gambling concessions.

The take from this source has been estimated at millions of dollars a year. It has also supported an extensive lobby in Paris. This lobby has influenced French officialdom into continuing support of Bao Dai and the old-style colonialism.

It has been recognized in Washington that this situation could not go on forever. Americans like General Collins and Lt. Gen. John Wilson O'Daniel, in charge of training the Vietnamese army, have been plugging along as best they could. They have made considerable progress.

Diem's seizure of power while General Collins was in Washington was a hopeful sign.

But in the back of everyone's mind has been full realization that if the situation in Viet Nam became intolerable, the United States might have to pull out.

Talk About Peace Seen Stemming From Russian Strategy to Hide Real Facts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Paris, May 9—On the surface there's a wave of peace talk. It's the kind that can deceive millions of people everywhere and dash their hopes in bitter disappointment when they learn the sad truth. The top government officials in the Allied governments indulge in the peace talk because they are forced into it by Soviet strategy on the one hand and by political influences on the other.

Having no political axes to grind and having no responsibility to any political party or faction, this writer can give the facts as he finds them, unpleasant though they may be.

For one thing, United States government officials privately haven't any illusions about what is happening. They know the Soviet leopard hasn't changed his spots, but, for various reasons, this isn't the time to stand off and say so.

TO DO THIS would put a crimp in the election campaign of the British Conservatives, and it is an open secret that many of our officials fear that a Labor Socialist victory might mean that World War III would be brought nearer rather than made remote as the Socialists claim. This is because the Socialist Labor party leaders favor appeasement not only in Europe, just as Chamberlain did in 1938, but they favor it in the Far East, and this could bring on a war with Red China. In fact, a British election victory for the Laborites may touch off the Far Eastern war because of a mistaken belief by the Reds that the time to strike is when America and Britain are farthest apart.

There will, therefore, be a public statement saying America favors a four-power conference to discuss German unification but not to take up any Far Eastern issues. It is difficult at this stage of the game to see what any four-power conference could accomplish. For, if there had been anything to negotiate on the part of the Russians, they could have taken it up with the American Ambassador in Moscow, Charles E. Bohlen, who speaks Russian fluently. No ambassador from any other country has received any proposals that could be the basis for a European settlement.

BUT THE Communists see a big propaganda advantage in a four-power conference. It enhances their prestige and keeps the Western world guessing. If there had been any real desire to relieve tension, the Soviet and Red China governments would be showing it in concrete ways. Hundreds of Americans are still held prisoner in Red China. The Anglo-Soviet and the Franco-Soviet treaties have just been formally annulled. And there is no let-up in the propaganda of denunciation.

To notify the world, moreover, that President Eisenhower's recent correspondence with Marshal Zhukov is meaningless, the Communist leaders wrote an article for the marshal to sign which has just appeared in "Pravda." It denounces the Western countries as warmongers. Also a meeting of all the satellites has been called at Warshaw to establish a Communist military alliance, which has been called a "Red NATO," as a counter-measure to the West's North Atlantic Treaty Organization, into which West Germany now has been admitted.

ALL THESE moves add up a reaffirmation of Communi imperialism and aggressive pu poses, but the top officials Britain, France and the Unite States, pressed by electorate which are swallowing appeas ment talk, now have apparent decided to ignore the bellicos moves of the Communists and act as if they were not happe ing.

Hence, there will be publ statements made indicating plan to work up a four-pow conference. The signing of th Austrian treaty, which has bee held up for ten years by Sovie strategy, is being hailed as sign of the friendly purposes the Communists. Actually, it's strategic move in the larg game, which aims to split Ge many off from the West.

ALREADY inside West Ge many, now a sovereign state, th Communists have succeeded dividing the political parties these tactics, which hold fort the bait of unification. There a well informed persons who a willing to take bets that not German soldier will be delivere to NATO in the next four yea and that West Germans will fi themselves faced with the ter ble alternative of withdrawi from NATO or facing a conti uation of their country's divisio Will the West Germans s through the scheme to ke them neutral and detached fro any military alliance so as make easier the control fro within of the undefended cou try by influences favorable Soviet Russia?

It isn't all sweetness and ligh therefore, in Europe despite t proposed four-power conferenc and the plans to withdraw troo from Austria after a new trea is signed. These facts constitu an unpleasant realism, but t Western world in the perio prior to two world wars learne only the hard way. Maybe th will have to happen again.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

San Diego, May 8—While aeronautic genius projects the impudence of man into space far beyond man's own ability to go, his success with high-speed aircraft is dashing him against crude barriers down on his own homely ground. He can fly eight miles high and live to write about it. He can fly a motorized kite to a pin-point goal a thousand miles away with only slight super-vision from a motorman to keep the kite on the track.

He can fly and steer an uninhabited bomb on kiwi, wings. But he is flying so fast in such big masses of machinery that he is running out of space for commercial landing fields near enough to the cities to justify flight. The military aircraft base is fixed and vulnerable. And now the water-based flying machine, which disappeared during the war, victim of its own bulk and clumsiness, has advocates who exploit the advantage of natural water-ports over the artificial fields on land.

These matters are commonplace to great men of aviation who think in mysterious realms which primitive flights on canvas wings has led them to in the split-second of time since Kitty Hawk. But in the layman they bestir the yokel's awe on circus day. I would exclaim that there ain't no such animal. But to Claude Ryan, who first saw man in flight when Cal Rogers went by Parsons, Kan., in 1911, such marvels are ordinary and greater marvels to come when he is gone are inevitable. Cal Rogers on that first coast-to-coast trip was flying a rickety kite labelled "Vin Fizz" to advertise a new belly-wash with a synthetic grape flavor which Armour, the packing house, tried to substitute for Coca Cola. He cracked up so often that little remained of the original plane when he reached California. But he got his prize and the flight became historic.

Ryan has a picture of himself at the age of 13 waiting for Rogers and other pictures of a growing American who later made the Lindbergh plane and now manufactures hulls and portions of engines which are shipped out of San Diego's great aeronautical center for inclusion in many ships and engines. The industry interlocks like the gears of its own machines. It grows more and more inter-dependent. A beautiful hoop of steel, done to the luster of jewelry in a sunlit shop on the very shore of the Pacific, may become part of an engine put together in Hartford.

Ernest G. Stout, of Convair, writes in a professional jargon that would suffocate the interest of the people whose future may be governed to a great extent by facts which he tries to convey. Stout believes in the water-based flying machine. He explains, first, that the soldier fliers used to decide what craft should be made and tell the industry to make them, with appropriate spares.

"With the advent of supersonic speed, nuclear and thermonuclear weapons and the elaborate networks of electronic aids for both guidance and detection of these weapons," the soldier fliers had to throw themselves on the superior knowledge of the aircraft industry and the universities, so that now the aircraft contractor has the duty of adjusting new concepts to the problems of deployment, expense to the nation and co-ordination with other weapons. More and more, the cult of the air and the sciences is making its own final decisions and turning planes over to the soldiers — and the navy, of course—for the relatively simple work of flight.

Mr. Stout has deplored as a fault of the land-based warcraft its "immobility, time of preparation and inherent concentration." In other words, the great swift bombers must have really vast fields of the smoothest runs and cannot improvise other homes.

Up to the start of World War 2 water-based ships flew the Atlantic and pioneered "all th world's routes of aerial com merce" as most of us will re member. But during the wa "the flying boat with its cum bersome hull and low perform ance was relegated to a minc role." So a few experts of th navy's bureau of aeronautic the national advisory commi tee for aeronautics, and Convai resolved "to do something."

After Hiroshima, "masse force, tied to large fixed base was destined to be a thing the past with future en phasis directed toward dispe sion and mobility." To cu across lots, they have develope a lean, clean ship with the out ward features of the landbase jets, which can use waters generally unlimited length an breadth. Some has retractabl skis and none use the old clums buoys on the ends of the wing All have a wide choice of har bors, which cost nothing an cannot be blown up.

This discussion has dealt onl with war-craft, but Mr. Stou and his school gently observ that most of the important cen ters of the world are built be side waters very inviting fo passenger and freight ships. Ic in season seems not to embar rass them and, for a fact, ther are few big American port where ice would cause mucl trouble very long at a time Lines of small land-based plane could serve as feeders to Pari and Berlin for example. New York does not freeze up. No Boston. Lakes Michigan an Erie do not often freeze very fa offshore. On the other hand, th vastness required for big land based jet ships will shove th bases farther and farther from town, when already the time lost between airport and city is devouring much of the time saved by flight.

Freeman Carriers On Clover Hunt

The most intensive search for four-leaf clovers ever conducted in this community gets underway today and luck will play only a small part in the venture, for the clovers are of a very special variety. The Freeman newspaperboys, as alert and enterprising a group of independent young business men as we know of, are participating in the Good Luck Clover Newspaperboys Contest being sponsored by Lever Brothers Company.

WITH $1,000 college scholarships, bicycles, encyclopedia, and a host of other prizes as their goal, the Freeman carriers will be asking their customers to save for them the green four-leaf clovers from the front panel of packages of Good Luck margarine. The entire foil wrap from the margarine's solid-pound Family Style can also be saved. During the eight-week period of the contest the carriers will pick up clovers from their customers when they make collections.

Each boy is eligible for as many prizes of his choice as are covered by the number of clovers he sends in at the end of the contest. The Freeman newspaperboys will also be competeing aginst carriers from hundreds of other newspapers for the top grand prizes offered.

TEN $1,000 scholarships to the United States College of his choice will go to each of the ten boys in the United States who collects the most clovers during the period of the contest.

R. G. Spears, marketing vice president of Lever's Good Luck Products Division, stated that "the contest emphasizes the importance of the role of the nation's newspaperboys in our community and business life. Many of the famous figures in American life today began their careers as newspaperboys. It is worth noting that among them are President Eisenhower, Cardinal Spellman, Eddie Rickenbacker, Bing Crosby and Walt Disney, to name just a few.

We hope that the college scholarships won by the 10 most enterprising boys who enter the contest will help them along to success in their chosen fields."

American Vets Feted in Moscow

Moscow, May 9 (AP)—The reunion of Russian and U. S. veterans of the 1945 Soviet-American linkup at the Elbe river got underway today with a post-midnight movie and television airport reception and a banquet of caviar, steak and vodka.

The nine American veterans of World War 2 arrived by plane shortly after midnight for a five-day stay as guests of the Soviet Union.

Col. Evgeny Porfiriev, chairman of the welcoming committee, greeted them at the airport as "our friends, our comrades-in-arms who fought against fascism"

"LET ME EXPRESS my great pleasure in reviving memories of our meeting at the Elbe," Porfiriev continued into a microphone. "I am glad you arrived on the 10th anniversary of the victory over Fascism. We welcome you to our hometown, Moscow, and wish you a good time."

Murray Schulman of Queens Village, N. Y., replied: "We sincerely appreciate your welcome and we, too, hope it will be a happy stay."

Four cars took the visitors to the National Hotel, which was decorated with colored greeting lights. At the entrance the Americans and the Russians posed arm in arm and shaking hands, then went in for an early morning banquet of red and black caviar, steak, ice cream, vodka and red and white wines.

"LET'S ADMIT it, we don't eat like this at ' home, said Elijah R. Sams Jr., of Pinnacle, N. C.

The visit stemmed from an open letter from the group's leader, Joseph Polowsky of Chicago, Ill., to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin inviting Russian veterans of the linkup to a reunion in Washington.

That never came off but a hastily formed Soviet committee of veterans of the Elbe meeting sent a counter-invitation to the Americans. Unable to finance the trip themselves, the U. S. nine finally got the money with the aid of an American TV program (Strike It Rich.)

Lists Moral Decay As 'Worst Enemy'

"Communism is not the worst enemy but the moral decay in ourselves and those with whom we talk and meet every day," the Rev. Paul Hirschauer, assistant pastor of St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, told the annual Communion breakfast of the Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus Sunday.

He described a moral decay consisting of "general corruption, dishonesty, perjury, graft, immorality, break-up of home life and a general indifference or I am not my brother's keeper."

He pointed out that it needed "no stretch of the imagination to envision the great transformation that could take place over our country—over the world—if everyone did something about changing the world for the better. . . . Be Christ to everyone with whom you meet for you are Christ in the world. See Christ in everyone, deal with everyone as though you were Christ. If at any time you wonder how you should act, ask yourself the question, What would Christ do?

Bernard F. O'Neil, faithful navigator, welcomed members to the breakfast. City Judge Raymond J. Mino served as toastmaster.

Sir Knight John Tancredi, Jr., served as chairman of the event and Robert Kershaw as chairman of ticket reservations. Joseph F. Saccoman, past grand knight, served as chairman of the kitchen committee.

Farmers Warned Against Supports

Harriam, N. Y., May 9 (AP)—The American Assembly says farmers should shy away from price supports to increase their income.

"Too much reliance has been placed on the part which price supports and production controls can play in solving agriculture's long-range economic problems," the assembly says after 3½ days of deliberation.

The group, made up of 60 experts in agriculture, government, business, labor and education, made public its findings yesterday.

It rapped the 90 per cent of parity bill narrowly passed by the House last week, but said "moderate price supports and storage programs are desirable" to protect some segments of agriculture.

PARITY FLUCTUATES with general price levels. It is designed to give farmers a fair return for their products in relation to costs."

"Continuing attempts to use price supports to raise farm prices are self-defeating, the assembly said.

The assembly, founded in 1950 by President Eisenhower when he was president of Columbia University, met at Arden House, Columbia's study center at the top of a mountain.

Its consensus report was made public by Dean Courtney C. Brown, of Columbia's graduate school of business, and Prof. William H. Nicholls, Vanderbilt University agricultural economics expert and technical director of the assembly session.

The conferees found wheat to be one of U. S. agriculture's most serious problems.

Shooting of Jail Fugitive Justified

Canton, May 9 (AP)—A coroner has decided that the shooting of Frank (The Hook) Talarico last Monday was justifiable homicide.

Mrs. Florence Dunlop, St. Lawrence county coroner, issued the finding at the conclusion of an inquest Saturday.

Talarico, 44, of Utica, a fugitive from the St. Lawrence county jail, was riddled by state police rifle bullets when he was trapped on a farm near Hopkinton, about 20 miles east of here. State police said he had refused to surrender.

Three other men escaped with Talarico April 27. Leon Caskinette, 24, of Raymondville, was taken April 29 when a state trooper was wounded in an exchange of gunfire with the fugitives. Ralph La Shomb, 29, of Potsdam, was captured with Talarico. Patrick Brooks, 26, of Gabriels, surrendered voluntarily Monday night.

The four had been awaiting action on burglary or assault charges.

American Vets Feted in Moscow

Moscow, May 9 (AP)—The reunion of Russian and U. S. veterans of the 1945 Soviet-American linkup at the Elbe river got underway today with a post-midnight movie and television airport reception and a banquet of caviar, steak and vodka.

The nine American veterans of World War 2 arrived by plane shortly after midnight for a five-day stay as guests of the Soviet Union.

Col. Evgeny Porfiriev, chairman of the welcoming committee, greeted them at the airport as "our friends, our comrades-in-arms who fought against fascism"

"LET ME EXPRESS my great pleasure in reviving memories of our meeting at the Elbe," Porfiriev continued into a microphone. "I am glad you arrived on the 10th anniversary of the victory over Fascism. We welcome you to our hometown, Moscow, and wish you a good time."

Murray Schulman of Queens Village, N. Y., replied: "We sincerely appreciate your welcome and we, too, hope it will be a happy stay."

Four cars took the visitors to the National Hotel, which was decorated with colored greeting lights. At the entrance the Americans and the Russians posed arm in arm and shaking hands, then went in for an early morning banquet of red and black caviar, steak, ice cream, vodka and red and white wines.

"LET'S ADMIT it, we don't eat like this at ' home, said Elijah R. Sams Jr., of Pinnacle, N. C.

The visit stemmed from an open letter from the group's leader, Joseph Polowsky of Chicago, Ill., to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin inviting Russian veterans of the linkup to a reunion in Washington.

That never came off but a hastily formed Soviet committee of veterans of the Elbe meeting sent a counter-invitation to the Americans. Unable to finance the trip themselves, the U. S. nine finally got the money with the aid of an American TV program (Strike It Rich.)

Lists Moral Decay As 'Worst Enemy'

"Communism is not the worst enemy but the moral decay in ourselves and those with whom we talk and meet every day," the Rev. Paul Hirschauer, assistant pastor of St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, told the annual Communion breakfast of the Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus Sunday.

He described a moral decay consisting of "general corruption, dishonesty, perjury, graft, immorality, break-up of home life and a general indifference or I am not my brother's keeper."

He pointed out that it needed "no stretch of the imagination to envision the great transformation that could take place over our country—over the world—if everyone did something about changing the world for the better. . . . Be Christ to everyone with whom you meet for you are Christ in the world. See Christ in everyone, deal with everyone as though you were Christ. If at any time you wonder how you should act, ask yourself the question, What would Christ do?

Bernard F. O'Neil, faithful navigator, welcomed members to the breakfast. City Judge Raymond J. Mino served as toastmaster.

Sir Knight John Tancredi, Jr., served as chairman of the event and Robert Kershaw as chairman of ticket reservations. Joseph F. Saccoman, past grand knight, served as chairman of the kitchen committee.

Farmers Warned Against Supports

Harriam, N. Y., May 9 (AP)—The American Assembly says farmers should shy away from price supports to increase their income.

"Too much reliance has been placed on the part which price supports and production controls can play in solving agriculture's long-range economic problems," the assembly says after 3½ days of deliberation.

The group, made up of 60 experts in agriculture, government, business, labor and education, made public its findings yesterday.

It rapped the 90 per cent of parity bill narrowly passed by the House last week, but said "moderate price supports and storage programs are desirable" to protect some segments of agriculture.

PARITY FLUCTUATES with general price levels. It is designed to give farmers a fair return for their products in relation to costs."

"Continuing attempts to use price supports to raise farm prices are self-defeating, the assembly said.

The assembly, founded in 1950 by President Eisenhower when he was president of Columbia University, met at Arden House, Columbia's study center at the top of a mountain.

Its consensus report was made public by Dean Courtney C. Brown, of Columbia's graduate school of business, and Prof. William H. Nicholls, Vanderbilt University agricultural economics expert and technical director of the assembly session.

The conferees found wheat to be one of U. S. agriculture's most serious problems.

Shooting of Jail Fugitive Justified

Canton, May 9 (AP)—A coroner has decided that the shooting of Frank (The Hook) Talarico last Monday was justifiable homicide.

Mrs. Florence Dunlop, St. Lawrence county coroner, issued the finding at the conclusion of an inquest Saturday.

Talarico, 44, of Utica, a fugitive from the St. Lawrence county jail, was riddled by state police rifle bullets when he was trapped on a farm near Hopkinton, about 20 miles east of here. State police said he had refused to surrender.

Three other men escaped with Talarico April 27. Leon Caskinette, 24, of Raymondville, was taken April 29 when a state trooper was wounded in an exchange of gunfire with the fugitives. Ralph La Shomb, 29, of Potsdam, was captured with Talarico. Patrick Brooks, 26, of Gabriels, surrendered voluntarily Monday night.

The four had been awaiting action on burglary or assault charges.

Ex-Congressman Dies

Kingsville, Tex., May 9 (AP)—Richard M. Kleberg Sr., cowboy and former congressman, was a Texan in the grand manner, a giant in the storied tradition of the ranch country. He died yesterday at 68 in Hot Springs, Ark., a victim of a heart attack. Kleberg was chairman of the board of the 1,250,000-acre King ranch, an empire of cattle and horses, oil and cotton. He was a grandson of Richard King, the founder. Kleberg and his brother Robert expanded and brought to national prominence the big ranch. They developed breeds of cattle and bird dogs, worked with thoroughbred horse development and brought the King ranch stables to the top of the racing world with such horses as Assault and Stymie.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

GIFT FROM THE SEA
By Anne Morrow Lindbergh
128 Pp

The author of this supremely beautiful little book, wife of a famous husband, mother of five grown and growing children and herself a creative literary artist, finds herself overwhelmed by the various duties and distractions of everyday living, with its many demands upon her time, and greatly in need of a solitary vacation.

The place selected for this vacation is her small, uncluttered cottage on an island, far enough from neighbors so that the sea is her nearest and nearly only companion. For several days she lets the sea, the sand and the sun work their charm of complete relaxation upon her, and then she begins to garner gifts of shells from the sea. Among these she selects a few and uses them as a basis for several charming and wise meditations.

HER FIRST SHELL is that of the whelk. From this little shell, with its appearance of just enough and not too much of anything for a perfect home comes a lesson of simplicity in life. Not too many clothes, not too much furniture, not too many belongings of any kind. Just enough. Not too many unnecessary activities, not too much attention to petty details. The first big essential of a serene mind, which the author seeks to attain.

The next shell is the "Moon Shell" or snail shell. With its concentric circles around a small speck at the center. What a picture of a growing family. Mother at the center with the family spraying out around her. If only Mother can stay steadily in the center, like the hub of a wheel and let the spokes whirl around her. That can spell stillness—the second attribute of peace of mind.

THE THIRD GIFT was not picked up, on the beach, but was given to the author by a friend. It is called "Double-Sunrise." A delicate, perfectly balanced double bi-valve held together by a fragile hinge. This shell pictures a perfect marriage. In the honeymoon days that fragile hinge easily holds a man and wife together, mainly because they want it so. It is when the storms and stresses of daily life threaten to break the hinge that great tact, forbearance, mutual trust and-yes-frequent vacations of man and wife from home ties and from each other must be employed to prevent a breaking of that little tie. Out of this can evolve perfect relationship between man and woman through all the years of their marriage.

Then there is the oyster shell. Homely, rugged, uneven. Rather like the house of a big family, with its many bumps indicative of additions for the accommodation of more and bigger children. This well expresses the middle years of marriage. Clinging as it does tenaciously to a rock, it suggests the permanence and comfort of the home place. A place from which to fly and a place to which to return. A place not to settle in for all time, but a good strong place from which to take off to new places and interests. A place not to die in, but to outgrow.

THE REST of the book concerns itself with more shells and more wise observations about our present tangled world and how to untangle the problems which it presents.

There is a lovely description of one day spent on the beach by the author and her sister. Hours of just walking silently along the beach, "As the sandpipers ahead of us move like a corps of ballet dancers, keeping time to some interior rhythm inaudible to us." Then back to a leisurely simple supper-and-conversation in the little cottage.

If this book teaches any one thing more than any other, it is how to cultivate and benefit by the art of relaxation. It is a little book containing so very much of value and beauty. A book to own and to read and re-read.

ANNOUNCING ENGAGEMENT AT SISTERS' WEDDING

A young women writes me as follows: "My sister is to be married some time this summer. I will be her maid of honor and my boy friend will be an usher. We had planned on announcing my engagement this summer and I would like to know if it would be proper to announce it at my sister's wedding reception. It would be an opportune time to do so but I do not want to do it if it would be improper or in any way take away from her 'big' day. If you approve of this, when should the announcement be made?"

Nothing is more conventionally correct than such an opportunity for making this announcement. Following the general toast to the bride and groom proposed by your father, he would lift his glass again and propose a toast to his "newly engaged other daughter."

First Baby Not the Only One

Dear Mrs. Post: My little girl is eight years old and I am expecting another child soon. Would it be improper to send announcements for this one also. My husband does not think we should send them out but I can't see why the arrival of this second baby is any less important than the first.

Answer: I think it is true that the arrival of a first baby is always momentous news and that news of others—especially if arriving at close intervals—is taken each time more calmly. However, there is no rule against sending announcements no matter how many times there may be occasion to do so; and in this particular case it seems to me that after eight years, a second baby would cause quite as much interest as did the first.

Gloves When Eating

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to keep gloves on while eating refreshments at a wedding reception?

Answer: Momentarily while drinking the health of the bride and groom and eating no more than a thin sandwich and a small cake, they may be left on, but when eating any amount of food, they should be removed.

How to give a surprise party, or a bridal shower, or larder shower is explained in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-13, "Showers." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Women's Council Holds Fellowship Day

Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. John Emerson Zeiter, of Brooklyn, president of the state Council of Church Women.

Mrs. Zeiter's talk was very interesting and informative. Besides speaking on the theme, she also told why it is important to have a council of church women to work together trying to break down racial barriers, to prevent juvenile delinquency by giving YMCA memberships to underprivileged boys, to work among migrants to improve their lot, and many other projects. But the most important task for each member, the speaker said, was to maintain an attitude of love in a Christian home.

Two delightful solos were sung by Mrs. Harry Legg accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lester Decker. The church chairman was Mrs. Chester Fox and the co-chairman was Mrs. William Coutant. After the meeting was adjourned, tea was served and a social hour was enjoyed by all who attended.

Circus Theme Set for Cub Scouts in May

Saugerties, May 9—Cub Scouts Circus was announced as the theme which will be observed by all cub scouting units throughout the council for the month of May.

Initial meetings of the various ideas committees have met and exchanged ideas and from early reports the monthly Pack meetings usually held the last week of the month will present some exciting programs.

A Welcoming committee wearing identification tags will also add to the occasion. And most important of all the Refreshment committee, many of which will work close to the theme in their choice of refreshments.

An important feature will be to create the atmosphere of the circus by signs, posters, flags and advertising streamers. Also, the circus band, wild animals, side shows, skill games, music box and loud speakers. Some den projects will be the making of large posters or billboards featuring a single activity. Also on the make-it-yourself list for cubs will be homemade cages and animals. The caged animals at some of these meetings will be baby alligators, turtles, cats, dogs, white mice (look out den mothers), and possibly a pet raccoon or rabit.

The parents and den mothers will be busy preparing costumes, props and other circus paraphernalia. Some will serve as ticket sellers, barkers, clowns and members of the circus band.

The feature of the evening will be the Big Top Show and the grand entrance where each den will furnish an act in the main ring.

Achievements and electives emphasized for the month will cover feats of skill, tools, make-believe, safety, handicraft and family fun.

Investor Forum

RUDDERLESS INVESTORS

In these days an investor or a speculator without a clear-cut policy of operation is like a ship without a rudder. Stock prices are at an all-time high and the promiscuous buying and selling of securities will carry its own reward.

Letters that I have received point up this matter. Here is an excerpt from one: "My broker had me take a profit in a stock. It has gone up $20 a share since I sold. How could the broker be so careless?

Here is another: "My adviser got me to buy XYZ stock. In two months it has gone down $10 a share. Should I take a loss or wait for it to go back to the price I paid?"

INVESTMENT and speculation are, to far too many people, a catch-as-catch can proposition. No logical policy is ever established. If stocks go higher after profits are taken, somebody takes it on the chin. And if stocks go lower after purchases, wise-cracks are often made about the managers' judgment.

Such investors and speculators should be reminded that most stock brokers are not soothsayers. The economic world is too complicated for anyone to predict accurately the gyration of stock prices. That is why in 1955 everybody should think through a policy of security operation and stick to it.

In this regard, take investors first. An investor should be a person with surplus funds for employment. Dependable income is the requisite. Price is important but assured income is more important.

A WIDOW has some 2½ per cent money and she would like to get a five per cent return. She looks at twenty securities — all common stocks and all carrying risk.

She finally picks American Telephone and Telegraph at $180 a share. It has paid 9 dollars a share each year for over 30 consecutive years with extras from time to time.

Now she will be a wise lady if, on the day she buys the shares, she will say to herself: "I am buying a good five per cent security and whether the stock goes to $200 a share (20 up) or to $160 ($20 down) I shall hold it for income and I will not be emotionally disturbed or exhilarated if the stock goes down or up."

She will be establishing an investment policy and when some feverish fellow comes along and advises her to take a loss or a profit, she will say to him: "I bought this for investment and I don't expect to sell it!"

THOUSANDS of American investors need to formulate such a policy.

Speculators, too, should have a policy. Stomach ulcers and shattered nerves often take their rise from stocks that are bought and sold too late or too soon. Most speculators are interested in capital appreciation.

They may buy at $30 a share. It goes to $50 and they sell—sometimes on the urgent advice of a competent person. Then the stock is split 2 for 1 and in a year or two the new stock goes to $100 a share.

Such situations in economic America set the stage for all sorts of social, economic and moral catastraphes. Speculators who become sold-out-bulls often feel like inflicting mayhem on somebody.

SPECULATORS are usually sellers. Consequently, when risk securities are bought, profit goals should be set and, avoiding a will-o-the-wisp action, when these have been reached, sales should be consummated and later regrets forgotten.

Yes, in 1955, speculators and investors need a rudder—a policy of purchase and sale that will carry them through the present heavy economic seas.

THE FORUM—(Q) "I am 26 years old. In 1952 I bought 500 shares of an uranium stock for 45 cents a share. It is now $7½ a share. What shall I do?"

(A) Don't press your luck. Sell 400 shares for around $3,000. Then buy three sound stocks and with the dividends buy a life insurance policy.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Wood Re-elected Scout Chairman

Saugerties, May 9 — John J. Wood Sr., was reelected to a third term as district chairman of the Saugerties District, Boy Scouts of America at the annual meeting of the Scouters.

Mr. Wood on accepting the position indicated that this would be his last term and that he would not accept the nomination again.

Others elected included Raymond Ruby, vice chairman; Ben Fein, council representative, Edward M. Flanagan, camp chairman; Raymond S. Quackenbush, leadership and training chairman; John J. Noble, organization and extension chairman; John Lasher, advancement chairman; Abraham Levy, health and safety chairman and Daniel N. Lamb, finance chairman. All were reelected with the exception of Mr. Quackenbush who will serve for the first time in that capacity.

During the scouters roundtable a proposal was discussed to consolidate all scouting units in the district for the various parades held in Saugerties in order that all the Boy Scouts may march in one division and present a solid front of scouting.

Mrs. Marzell Roming, chairman of the Fourth of July Observance Committee presented a plan for conducting a Water Carnival at the Saugerties beach as a part of the Fourth of July program. After considerable discussion the unit leaders indicated that such a program required much adult supervision and that the cooperation of parents and committeemen which has been lacking in the past could not be depended on to undertake such an extensive outdoor program.

Council Representative Ben Fein in his report asked for the cooperation of the local scouters in preparing Camp Tri-Mount for the season. Mr. Teel during his summary presented Scoutmaster Ruby with a green ribbon award for the re-registration of Boy Scout Troop 36 on time. Scoutmaster Walter Levy of Boy Scout Troop 33 was presented with a Blue Bell award for increased membership of the Malden-West Camp troop and also a green ribbon for re-registration on time.

It was announced that Chairman Wood was in charge of reservations and tickets for the annual Council Dinner meeting to be held at the George Washington School cafeteria, Wall street, Kingston on Tuesday, May 24 at 7 p. m.

The ninth annual Intercollegiate Bridge Championship was held early in spring in about 120 colleges, with several thousand college students competing. Prearranged hands were sent out in advance to be set up for the college students, who would play the hands when the time came.

One of the hands, shown today has a simple point of defensive play. The idea of the hand is so simple that it can't be missed when you see all four hands. In actual play, however, most of the collegians allowed South to make four spades. Perhaps non-collegian bridge players would make the same mistake.

When the hand is defended correctly, West opens the ten of hearts, and East wins with the ace of hearts, collecting all of the missing cards in his long suit.

East has now taken two tricks and can expect to take one more with his ace of diamonds. A fourth defensive trick is needed to defeat the contract.

Where is the fourth defensive trick to come from? Dummy's strength in diamonds and clubs make it clear that only in trumps can a fourth trick be developed.

East should cash the ace of diamonds and lead a third round of hearts in order to promote his partner's trump holding West will be in the overruff position, and will make a trump trick if he has Q-x of J-x-x of trumps.

In the actual hand a third rounds of hearts guarantees West a trump trick. If South ruffs low, West can ruff immediately with the jack, and if South ruffs with the queen to prevent an overruff. West will eventually make his jack of trumps as the high trump.

Preventing Tuberculosis

TB is your problem.

But, you say, you don't know a single person who has tuberculosis. Are you sure? How do you know? That's just the trouble with this insidious disease. It can hide for long periods behind a mask that imitates health.

If TB were like measles, it would probably be under complete control today. Medical science can plot the course of measles from the time of infection through the incubation period to the outbreak of the familiar symptoms. Within a specified time the disease is cured, and the patient is immune to another infection. Not so with tuberculosis.

In the first place, infection with tuberculosis germs does not necessarily mean that disease will break out at all. You can be exposed to TB, and take in a good dose of germs from someone who has the disease, and yet be able to fight the germs to a standstill. Months, even years later the disease might start up either because of a new invasion of germs or because the body's defenses against the old infection have weakened. Even then tuberculosis may not declare itself openly. It can be active for some time without obvious symptoms.

Since a person who has TB may not feel ill, he may go about his business and pleasure as usual. Of course, he will be getting steadily worse and spreading his germs to those about him, although he looks as healthy as ever.

Another way tuberculosis differs from many other infectious diseases is that one outbreak doesn't always end the story. The cured ex-patient has to make an effort to stay well, for his disease can start up again if he is careless with his health.

There are no red spots to identify those who have active tuberculosis. You may or may not be one of them. But it is your responsibility to know. You can know for sure by having a regular physical check-up by your physician and a chest X-ray as often as he advises.

Taipei, Formosa, May 9 (AP)—Newspapers reported seven crewmen were killed in an explosion today aboard a small ship at Kaohsiung, southern Formosa. The explosion, the reports said, occurred as World War 2 shells were being loaded to be dumped at sea.

Paid TV Shows Before FCC

The Federal Communications Commission in Washington has before it a request by the Zenith Radio Corporation—a pioneer in the development of Subscription TV—to be allowed to offer public Subscription TV services.

Before the Commission acts upon this request, it has asked all interested persons to give their comments on or before May 9, 1955.

Zenith Corporation declares there's really nothing mysterious about Subscription TV. It's simply a way of bringing to you and your family, in your own home, on your own TV set, entertainment and programs which are not now available. Subscription TV will not replace the present system but will be an added service.

A branch of National Committee Against Pay-as-you-see Television is being organized in Ulster county. Mrs. Pearl G. Weber, PO Box 85, Hurley has been appointed chairman of the local branch.

Mrs. Weber said an educational program has been launched to acquaint the American television viewer with the dangerous implications in proposed paid TV now under consideration by the Commission.

She said the New York State American Legion was especially concerned over its effect on thousands of veterans in hospitals throughout the United States.

India Sends Protest

New Delhi, India, May 9 (AP)—India sent a "strong protest" today to Pakistan over a weekend clash in disputed Kashmir between Indian troops and Pakistan border police, the Foreign Ministry announced. The Defense Ministry said earlier 12 Indians were killed in the skirmish Saturday at the village of Nekowal, in the Kashmir province of Jammu. In Karachi the Pakistan government said both sides had suffered casualties but the situation in the area was now normal. The Indians said they were awaiting a report from UN observers.

Ambassador Dies

New York, May 9 (AP)—Joseph Flack, U. S. ambassador to Poland and a career diplomat for 39 years, died yesterday of a heart attack aboard the liner United States which is due here today from Europe. State Department representatives were to meet the ship on its arrival. Flack, 60, who had been ambassador to Poland since 1950, was enroute home from Warsaw for reassignment. His wife, the former Aloisia Schmid, was with him. Funeral services will be held at Doylestown, Pa., Flack's home city.

Engel Zionist President

Grossinger, May 9 (AP)—S. Sanford Engel of Syracuse has been elected president of the New York State Region, Zionist Organization of America. Three vice presidents were chosen at the third annual regional convention yesterday. They are William Nimelman of Niagara Falls, Jacob Kokis of Binghamton and Nathan Sahr of Schenectady. Alexander Rothschild of Albany was elected treasurer.

Why We Say--

The nickname, Yankee is derived from a joke by the Indians. It comes from yonokie, an Indian word which meant 'silent." The name was applied by the Indians in reverse of what they really thought. The white men seemed so talkative to them in contrast to their own people, that they named him yonokie as a jest.

Mr. Hutton

That's how Government got into business — and became Big Government.

How many businessmen like the idea of Government competing against them? It isn't necessary for the Government to show a dime of profit, but it is necessary for the Free Enterprise System to do so. They don't have anybody to make up their losses.

Now, neighbor, let's repeat and repeat, to our Congressmen and Senators, General Eisenhower's desire "to get Government out of business."

Government in business is an octopus that sucks the blood of our competitive profit and loss system. About 95% of Government competition is run at a loss. We — the taxpayers — pay the bloody bill!

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

RUDDERLESS INVESTORS

In these days an investor or a speculator without a clear-cut policy of operation is like a ship without a rudder. Stock prices are at an all-time high and the promiscuous buying and selling of securities will carry its own reward.

Letters that I have received point up this matter. Here is an excerpt from one: "My broker had me take a profit in a stock. It has gone up $20 a share since I sold. How could the broker be so careless?

Here is another: "My adviser got me to buy XYZ stock. In two months it has gone down $10 a share. Should I take a loss or wait for it to go back to the price I paid?"

INVESTMENT and speculation are, to far too many people, a catch-as-catch can proposition. No logical policy is ever established. If stocks go higher after profits are taken, somebody takes it on the chin. And if stocks go lower after purchases, wise-cracks are often made about the managers' judgment.

Such investors and speculators should be reminded that most stock brokers are not soothsayers. The economic world is too complicated for anyone to predict accurately the gyration of stock prices. That is why in 1955 everybody should think through a policy of security operation and stick to it.

In this regard, take investors first. An investor should be a person with surplus funds for employment. Dependable income is the requisite. Price is important but assured income is more important.

A WIDOW has some 2½ per cent money and she would like to get a five per cent return. She looks at twenty securities — all common stocks and all carrying risk.

She finally picks American Telephone and Telegraph at $180 a share. It has paid 9 dollars a share each year for over 30 consecutive years with extras from time to time.

Now she will be a wise lady if, on the day she buys the shares, she will say to herself: "I am buying a good five per cent security and whether the stock goes to $200 a share (20 up) or to $160 ($20 down) I shall hold it for income and I will not be emotionally disturbed or exhilarated if the stock goes down or up."

She will be establishing an investment policy and when some feverish fellow comes along and advises her to take a loss or a profit, she will say to him: "I bought this for investment and I don't expect to sell it!"

THOUSANDS of American investors need to formulate such a policy.

Speculators, too, should have a policy. Stomach ulcers and shattered nerves often take their rise from stocks that are bought and sold too late or too soon. Most speculators are interested in capital appreciation.

They may buy at $30 a share. It goes to $50 and they sell—sometimes on the urgent advice of a competent person. Then the stock is split 2 for 1 and in a year or two the new stock goes to $100 a share.

Such situations in economic America set the stage for all sorts of social, economic and moral catastraphes. Speculators who become sold-out-bulls often feel like inflicting mayhem on somebody.

SPECULATORS are usually sellers. Consequently, when risk securities are bought, profit goals should be set and, avoiding a will-o-the-wisp action, when these have been reached, sales should be consummated and later regrets forgotten.

Yes, in 1955, speculators and investors need a rudder—a policy of purchase and sale that will carry them through the present heavy economic seas.

THE FORUM—(Q) "I am 26 years old. In 1952 I bought 500 shares of an uranium stock for 45 cents a share. It is now $7½ a share. What shall I do?"

(A) Don't press your luck. Sell 400 shares for around $3,000. Then buy three sound stocks and with the dividends buy a life insurance policy.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of this newspaper.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Wood Re-elected Scout Chairman

Saugerties, May 9—John J. Wood Sr., was reelected to a third term as district chairman of the Saugerties District, Boy Scouts of America at the annual meeting of the Scouters.

Mr. Wood on accepting the position indicated that this would be his last term and that he would not accept the nomination again.

Others elected included Raymond Ruby, vice chairman; Ben Fein, council representative, Edward M. Flanagan, camp chairman; Raymond S. Quackenbush, leadership and training chairman; John J. Noble, organization and extension chairman; John Lasher, advancement chairman; Abraham Levy, health and safety chairman and Daniel N. Lamb, finance chairman. All were reelected with the exception of Mr. Quackenbush who will serve for the first time in that capacity.

During the scouters roundtable a proposal was discussed to consolidate all scouting units in the district for the various parades held in Saugerties in order that all the Boy Scouts may march in one division and present a solid front of scouting.

Mrs. Marzell Roming, chairman of the Fourth of July Observance Committee presented a plan for conducting a Water Carnival at the Saugerties beach as a part of the Fourth of July program. After considerable discussion the unit leaders indicated that such a program required much adult supervision and that the cooperation of parents and committeemen which has been lacking in the past could not be depended on to undertake such an extensive outdoor program.

Council Representative Ben Fein in his report asked for the cooperation of the local scouters in preparing Camp Tri-Mount for the season. Mr. Teel during his summary presented Scoutmaster Ruby with a green ribbon award for the re-registration of Boy Scout Troop 36 on time. Scoutmaster Walter Levy of Boy Scout Troop 33 was presented with a Blue Bell award for increased membership of the Malden-West Camp troop and also a green ribbon for re-registration on time.

It was announced that Chairman Wood was in charge of reservations and tickets for the annual Council Dinner meeting to be held at the George Washington School cafeteria, Wall street, Kingston on Tuesday, May 24 at 7 p. m.

Mr. Teel emphasized that the deadline for reservations for Boy Scout Day at West Point on Saturday, Sept. 24 was Aug. 24 and that those wishing to participate should make reservations early as tickets are limited. The scouts and scouters will be conducted on a guided tour of the academy and will also see the cadets play So. Carolina in a scheduled football game.

The date of the Council Camporee was announced as June 3-4-5. Six troops of the Saugerties District indicated that they would participate.

The next meeting is scheduled for Thursday, June 2 and will be an outdoor meeting, place to be announced at a later date.

Gov. Clinton Market Captures Major Flag

Move Four Ahead With Three to Go

Governor Clinton Market cinched the 1954-55 Ferraro Major League championship by taking one game from Overhead Doors Saturday night in a makeup session of the midtown major.

The victory left the Marketeers four games ahead of the field with only three games remaining. The season ends Thursday night.

OVERHEAD DOORS powtred 959 and 1064 to grab the first two sets, but slumped to 876 while the Clintons were hitting 940.

High scoring highlighted the makeup matches as Nadler Motors eclipsed Old Capital Motors' old team single mark of 1064, with a 1095 slam. The Overhead Doors, of course, had tied the old mark.

Harold Broskie furnished a 269 in the new record. Joe Schrowang contributed 205, Leo Bechtold 180, Bob Smith 245 and Larry Weishaupt 196. Broskie opened his big game with seven strikes in a row.

JOHNNY FERRARO missed a "700" series when he ran into the 4-7-9 split in the 30th frame. He had games of 257, 232 and 195 for 684.

There were a flock of other top individual efforts. Larry Petersen Jr. toppled 214-238-646, Joe Schrowang 256-636, Harold Broskie 269-630, Bill Lawrence 214-200-635, Charlie Manfro 264-200-648, Harry Wilber 227-216-615, Randy Kelder 265-201-647.

Lausse Battles Jones Friday at New York

Middleweight contenders are beginning to dream about the title now that there is a possibility Champion Carl (Bobo) Olson may have to give up his 160-pound crown.

The Hawaiian-born Olson gets a title shot at light heavyweight King Archie Moore on June 22 and if Bobo win he'll have to surrender the middleweight championship.

Eduardo (KO) Lausse, currently ranked as the No. 7 contender, is one of the 160-pounders aiming to get into the scramble. The 27-year-old Argentine, winner of 27 straight including 25 knockouts, will have to beat rugged (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, Friday night to stay in the running.

THE TWO COLLIDE in a 10 rounder at Madison Square Garden, the first boxing card in the big New York arena since March 25. The 9 p. m. (EST) 10-rounder will be broadcast and telecast (NBC)

Jones, conqueror of Sugar Ray Robinson on Jan. 19, can elevate himself into the picture with an upset of the 2-1 favored Gaucho. Jones has a 34-13-3 record. He has scored nine knockouts. Lausse's record is 57-6-2 with 48 kayoes.

WILDCAT BILLY McNeece, an aggressive Islip, N. Y., middleweight, is a 2-1 choice to beat New York's Tony Johnson tonight (Monday) in a 10-rounder at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena (ABC-TV, 9 p. m., EST).

In the other television bout tonight, Isaac Logart of Cuba is a 13-10 favorite to beat another foreigner, Ludwick Lightburn of British Honduras. The 10-rounder will be fought at New York's St. Nicholas Arean (Dumont-TV 9 p. m., EST).

BELTING BOB Satterfield, subbing for the ailing Floyd Patterson, takes on squat Archie McBride of Trenton, N. J., in a heavyweight 10 at Chicago's Stadium Wednesday night (CBS-TV, 9 p. m., EST).

RAUL RATON Macias, of Mexico, who is recognized as world bantamweight king by the NBA, meets Bobby Mario of Reno in a non-title 10 in San Antonio Thursday night.

Katrine Club Names Two Boys To DeBruce

Joseph Demski and Edwin Hoyt Jr., have been selected as Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club representatives to the DeBruce Conservation camp.

Demski is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Demski of 131 Jansen avenue, Kingston. Hoyt's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hoyt of 133 Jansen avenue.

THE KATRINE club plans its monthly meeting Tuesday, May 10, at 8 p. m. Club officials are hoping for a large attendance for the business meeting.

Work on moving the clubhouse to the waterfront on the Esopus creek will start Monday with Charles Benson of Saugerties in charge. It is expected to have the building moved and the land cleared in about two or three weeks. When completed it will afford club members and their friends a convenient spot for bathing, fishing and boating.

Harper Claims Vardon Lead

Fort Worth, Tex., May 9 (AP) Chandler Harper claimed leadership for the Vardon trophy today because victory in the $25,000 Colonial National Invitation golf tournament had given him a stroke average of 69.64. The PGA wouldn't confirm it but is checking.

Harper shot a 2-over-par 72 yesterday to wind up with 276 for 72 holes and first money of $5,000, taking the tournament by the widest margin in its nine year history—a matter of eight strokes over young Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, O.

THE CHATTANOOGA veteran said he had averaged 69.70 in five previous tournaments but wasn't even listed among the contenders for the Vardon trophy the high accolade of golf. He added acidly that the PGA was usually wrong anyway.

Ray O'Brien, director of the PGA Tournament Bureau, said he didn't have his records here and couldn't determine if a mistake had been made.

But Harper's victory in the Colonial tournament did vault him from fourteenth to seventh place in money winnings and this was shown by PGA records.

The Orange Still Figures

Further Medical Tests Due for Harold Johnson

Philadelphia, May 9 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission scheduled further medical tests today for light heavyweight Harold Johnson to determine if he had been drugged before losing a two-round technical knockout to heavyweight Julio Mederos Friday night.

Two commission officials said that until results of the forthcoming tests have been studied, initial reports that Johnson was not drugged must be regarded as inaccurate.

JOHNSON, although apparently not suffering a damaging blow, was unable to answer the bell for the third round of the nationally televised encounter. The No. 1 lightheavyweight contender held a previous decision over Mederos.

Johnson tripped entering the ring but was all right until the end of the first round when he wobbled back to his corner. In the second round Johnson fell without being hit and after the bell fell off his stool and was unable to stand without aid.

DR. ALFRED Ayella, Jr., a commission physician, said the further tests would be to find out if Johnson was under the influence of a drug that could not be detected in preliminary tests. He said these preliminary tests failed to reveal the presence of any common drug.

Commissioner Alfred M. Klein, who termed the initial reports "off-base," said also that results from blood, spinal fluid and stomach examinations were not yet in the hands of physicians for evaluation.

Dr. Ayella added that results of all tests would not be available until tomorrow at the earliest. The tests will include studies of an orange found in Johnson's dressing room and nose drops the fighter used before the fight.

New B Doubles Women Leaders In State Tenpins

Albany, May 9 (AP)—Two weekends of play remain in the New York State Woman's Bowling Assn. Tourney and leaders are proving tough to budge.

Ronnie Martin of Massena jumped into first place in the Class B singles and Ruth Schiavo and Elizabeth Buffardi of Saratoga took over the Class B doubles in the only major changes of weekend play. The tourney ends May 22.

THE OTHER leaders held fast. Atlantic Inn of Staten Island is the Class A team leader with 2656. The 4th Saratoga Spa of Saratoga Springs continues with 2511 as the Class B pacemaker. Jo Sanfilippo of New York city has high 641 for the Class A singles and Phyllis Notaro of Angola leads the all events with 1726. Gladys Fuchs and Marion Turash of New York city lead the Class A doubles with 1144.

Miss Martin rolled a 581 last night to oust Loretta Seaburgh of Binghamton, who had grabbed the lead with a 571 only an hour before. The Saratoga pair hit 1063 in the doubles.

Gov. Clinton Market Captures Major Flag

Move Four Ahead With Three to Go

Governor Clinton Market cinched the 1954-55 Ferraro Major League championship by taking one game from Overhead Doors Saturday night in a makeup session of the midtown major.

The victory left the Marketeers four games ahead of the field with only three games remaining. The season ends Thursday night.

OVERHEAD DOORS powtred 959 and 1064 to grab the first two sets, but slumped to 876 while the Clintons were hitting 940.

High scoring highlighted the makeup matches as Nadler Motors eclipsed Old Capital Motors' old team single mark of 1064, with a 1095 slam. The Overhead Doors, of course, had tied the old mark.

Harold Broskie furnished a 269 in the new record. Joe Schrowang contributed 205, Leo Bechtold 180, Bob Smith 245 and Larry Weishaupt 196. Broskie opened his big game with seven strikes in a row.

JOHNNY FERRARO missed a "700" series when he ran into the 4-7-9 split in the 30th frame. He had games of 257, 232 and 195 for 684.

There were a flock of other top individual efforts. Larry Petersen Jr. toppled 214-238-646, Joe Schrowang 256-636, Harold Broskie 269-630, Bill Lawrence 214-200-635, Charlie Manfro 264-200-648, Harry Wilber 227-216-615, Randy Kelder 265-201-647.

Week's Boxing Slate

Lausse Battles Jones Friday at New York

Middleweight contenders are beginning to dream about the title now that there is a possibility Champion Carl (Bobo) Olson may have to give up his 160-pound crown.

The Hawaiian-born Olson gets a title shot at light heavyweight King Archie Moore on June 22 and if Bobo win he'll have to surrender the middleweight championship.

Eduardo (KO) Lausse, currently ranked as the No. 7 contender, is one of the 160-pounders aiming to get into the scramble. The 27-year-old Argentine, winner of 27 straight including 25 knockouts, will have to beat rugged (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, Friday night to stay in the running.

THE TWO COLLIDE in a 10 rounder at Madison Square Garden, the first boxing card in the big New York arena since March 25. The 9 p. m. (EST) 10-rounder will be broadcast and telecast (NBC)

Jones, conqueror of Sugar Ray Robinson on Jan. 19, can elevate himself into the picture with an upset of the 2-1 favored Gaucho. Jones has a 34-13-3 record. He has scored nine knockouts. Lausse's record is 57-6-2 with 48 kayoes.

WILDCAT BILLY McNeece, an aggressive Islip, N. Y., middleweight, is a 2-1 choice to beat New York's Tony Johnson tonight (Monday) in a 10-rounder at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena (ABC-TV, 9 p. m., EST).

In the other television bout tonight, Isaac Logart of Cuba is a 13-10 favorite to beat another foreigner, Ludwick Lightburn of British Honduras. The 10-rounder will be fought at New York's St. Nicholas Arean (Dumont-TV 9 p. m., EST).

BELTING BOB Satterfield, subbing for the ailing Floyd Patterson, takes on squat Archie McBride of Trenton, N. J., in a heavyweight 10 at Chicago's Stadium Wednesday night (CBS-TV, 9 p. m., EST).

RAUL RATON Macias, of Mexico, who is recognized as world bantamweight king by the NBA, meets Bobby Mario of Reno in a non-title 10 in San Antonio Thursday night.

Katrine Club Names Two Boys To DeBruce

Joseph Demski and Edwin Hoyt Jr., have been selected as Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club representatives to the DeBruce Conservation camp.

Demski is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Demski of 131 Jansen avenue, Kingston. Hoyt's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hoyt of 133 Jansen avenue.

THE KATRINE club plans its monthly meeting Tuesday, May 10, at 8 p. m. Club officials are hoping for a large attendance for the business meeting.

Work on moving the clubhouse to the waterfront on the Esopus creek will start Monday with Charles Benson of Saugerties in charge. It is expected to have the building moved and the land cleared in about two or three weeks. When completed it will afford club members and their friends a convenient spot for bathing, fishing and boating.

Harper Claims Vardon Lead

Fort Worth, Tex., May 9 (AP) Chandler Harper claimed leadership for the Vardon trophy today because victory in the $25,000 Colonial National Invitation golf tournament had given him a stroke average of 69.64. The PGA wouldn't confirm it but is checking.

Harper shot a 2-over-par 72 yesterday to wind up with 276 for 72 holes and first money of $5,000, taking the tournament by the widest margin in its nine year history—a matter of eight strokes over young Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, O.

THE CHATTANOOGA veteran said he had averaged 69.70 in five previous tournaments but wasn't even listed among the contenders for the Vardon trophy the high accolade of golf. He added acidly that the PGA was usually wrong anyway.

Ray O'Brien, director of the PGA Tournament Bureau, said he didn't have his records here and couldn't determine if a mistake had been made.

But Harper's victory in the Colonial tournament did vault him from fourteenth to seventh place in money winnings and this was shown by PGA records.

New B Doubles Women Leaders In State Tenpins

Albany, May 9 (AP)—Two weekends of play remain in the New York State Woman's Bowling Assn. Tourney and leaders are proving tough to budge.

Ronnie Martin of Massena jumped into first place in the Class B singles and Ruth Schiavo and Elizabeth Buffardi of Saratoga took over the Class B doubles in the only major changes of weekend play. The tourney ends May 22.

THE OTHER leaders held fast. Atlantic Inn of Staten Island is the Class A team leader with 2656. The 4th Saratoga Spa of Saratoga Springs continues with 2511 as the Class B pacemaker. Jo Sanfilippo of New York city has high 641 for the Class A singles and Phyllis Notaro of Angola leads the all events with 1726. Gladys Fuchs and Marion Turash of New York city lead the Class A doubles with 1144.

Miss Martin rolled a 581 last night to oust Loretta Seaburgh of Binghamton, who had grabbed the lead with a 571 only an hour before. The Saratoga pair hit 1063 in the doubles.

The Orange Still Figures

Further Medical Tests Due for Harold Johnson

Philadelphia, May 9 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission scheduled further medical tests today for light heavyweight Harold Johnson to determine if he had been drugged before losing a two-round technical knockout to heavyweight Julio Mederos Friday night.

Two commission officials said that until results of the forthcoming tests have been studied, initial reports that Johnson was not drugged must be regarded as inaccurate.

JOHNSON, although apparently not suffering a damaging blow, was unable to answer the bell for the third round of the nationally televised encounter. The No. 1 lightheavyweight contender held a previous decision over Mederos.

Johnson tripped entering the ring but was all right until the end of the first round when he wobbled back to his corner. In the second round Johnson fell without being hit and after the bell fell off his stool and was unable to stand without aid.

DR. ALFRED Ayella, Jr., a commission physician, said the further tests would be to find out if Johnson was under the influence of a drug that could not be detected in preliminary tests. He said these preliminary tests failed to reveal the presence of any common drug.

Commissioner Alfred M. Klein, who termed the initial reports "off-base," said also that results from blood, spinal fluid and stomach examinations were not yet in the hands of physicians for evaluation.

Dr. Ayella added that results of all tests would not be available until tomorrow at the earliest. The tests will include studies of an orange found in Johnson's dressing room and nose drops the fighter used before the fight.

STRONG, SILENT TYPES

Tribe's 1954 Pennant Formula Still Clicks

By JOE REICHLER
(The Associated Press)

Maybe, as Al Lopez stoutly maintains, Cleveland will not equal its record 111 victories of last year. But the wily manager cannot deny that his Indians are adopting the same formula that brought them the American League championship in 1954.

Cleveland won the flag by holding the top clubs even and belaboring the bejabbers out of of the weaker teams. The Indians are perched atop the league standings today because they are doing the same thing this year.

Sunday's 9-6 and 2-1 sweep of a doubleheader with Kansas City gave Cleveland a record of 11 victories and only two defeats against the four second division clubs. That's an .847 gait. Against the same four clubs last year—Washington, Boston, Baltimore and Kansas City (Philadelphia)—the Indians had a 75-13 record for an .852 percentage.

Against the first division clubs—New York, Chicago and Detroit—Cleveland is only 6-5 for .545. Against the same clubs last year, the Indians were 36-30. That exactly .545.

THE YANKEES and White Sox stayed within two games of the Tribe, in a second place deadlock, as a result of yesterday's action. The Yankees polished off Willard (Nemesis) Nixon, who had beaten them six straight times over a two-year span, with a 5-0 triumph behind Bob Grim. The White Sox won a pair of squeakers from Detroit 5-4 in 11 innings and 1-0 to plunge the Tigers from first to fourth. After Baltimore had nipped Washington 4-3 with two runs in the ninth inning, the Senators bounced back to pound out a 15-7 second game triumph.

Brooklyn's relentless Dodgers defeated the fading Philadelphia Phillies 9-8 for their 21st victory in 23 starts as they racked up their second 10-game winning streak in less than a month.

The Brooks' nearest pursuers are the Baltimore Braves, nine games behind. The Braves took undisputed possession of second place by defeating St. Louis 6-2 as the New York Giants were held to a split in their doubleheader with Pittsburgh. The Giants were hard pressed to win the second game 6-3 after the Pirates took the opener 7-5.

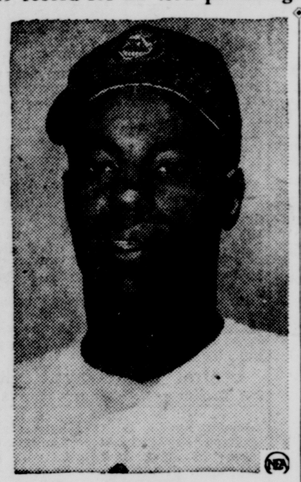

THE HOME RUN was the decisive factor in the Chicago-Cincinnati split. The Cubs won the opener 5-3 on four baggers by Randy Jackson and rookie Bob Speake. The Redlegs took the second game 4-3 on Hobie Landright's ninth inning homer. The second string catcher also blasted one in the sixth inning.

Al Smith went on a slugging spree, walloping three home runs in the Indians' double win. The Tribe outfielder cracked two in the first game, each with a man on base, and added two singles as Cleveland overcame a 5-0 deficit. Bob Feller, who pitched a one-hitter last Sunday, was whacked for five hits before being removed in the second inning for Art Houtteman, the winner. Al Rosen's 11th inning homer broke up the second game.

Two-runs homers by Joe Collins and Hank Bauer helped Grim register his first victory although fireman Jim Konstanty had to come to his rescue after the sophomore walked the first two batters he faced in the ninth.

DUKE SNIDER'S grand slam homer in the seventh, the fourth of his major league career, earned Brooklyn's Johnny Podres his third victory in four decisions. The Phils came within one run of overcoming a 9-2 deficit with four tallies in the seventh and two more in the eighth. The Phillies outhit the Dodgers, 14 to 9, but left 11 runners stranded to only 3 for the Dodgers. It was the Phils' ninth straight defeat.

Don Mueller of the Giants extended his hitting streak through 21 consecutive games with two hits in the opener and three in the second game of the Giant-Pirates doubleheader. The New York outfielder, hitting at .421, needs to hit in the next three games to equal the team record of 24 straight hitting games by Fred Lindstrom.

Al Smith

Don's hitting went to waste in the opener as homers by Dick Groat, Jerry Lynch and Gene Freese helped Dick Littlefield gain his second Pirate victory. Sal Maglie picked up the Giant victory, in relief, as Willie Mays contributed four hits, including his fourth homer, in the nightcap.

STRONG, SILENT TYPES

Tribe's 1954 Pennant Formula Still Clicks

By JOE REICHLER
(The Associated Press)

Maybe, as Al Lopez stoutly maintains, Cleveland will not equal its record 111 victories of last year. But the wily manager cannot deny that his Indians are adopting the same formula that brought them the American League championship in 1954.

Cleveland won the flag by holding the top clubs even and belaboring the bejabbers out of of the weaker teams. The Indians are perched atop the league standings today because they are doing the same thing this year.

Sunday's 9-6 and 2-1 sweep of a doubleheader with Kansas City gave Cleveland a record of 11 victories and only two defeats against the four second division clubs. That's an .847 gait. Against the same four clubs last year—Washington, Boston, Baltimore and Kansas City (Philadelphia)—the Indians had a 75-13 record for an .852 percentage.

Against the first division clubs—New York, Chicago and Detroit—Cleveland is only 6-5 for .545. Against the same clubs last year, the Indians were 36-30. That exactly .545.

THE YANKEES and White Sox stayed within two games of the Tribe, in a second place deadlock, as a result of yesterday's action. The Yankees polished off Willard (Nemesis) Nixon, who had beaten them six straight times over a two-year span, with a 5-0 triumph behind Bob Grim. The White Sox won a pair of squeakers from Detroit 5-4 in 11 innings and 1-0 to plunge the Tigers from first to fourth. After Baltimore had nipped Washington 4-3 with two runs in the ninth inning, the Senators bounced back to pound out a 15-7 second game triumph.

Brooklyn's relentless Dodgers defeated the fading Philadelphia Phillies 9-8 for their 21st victory in 23 starts as they racked up their second 10-game winning streak in less than a month.

The Brooks' nearest pursuers are the Baltimore Braves, nine games behind. The Braves took undisputed possession of second place by defeating St. Louis 6-2 as the New York Giants were held to a split in their doubleheader with Pittsburgh. The Giants were hard pressed to win the second game 6-3 after the Pirates took the opener 7-5.

THE HOME RUN was the decisive factor in the Chicago-Cincinnati split. The Cubs won the opener 5-3 on four baggers by Randy Jackson and rookie Bob Speake. The Redlegs took the second game 4-3 on Hobie Landright's ninth inning homer. The second string catcher also blasted one in the sixth inning.

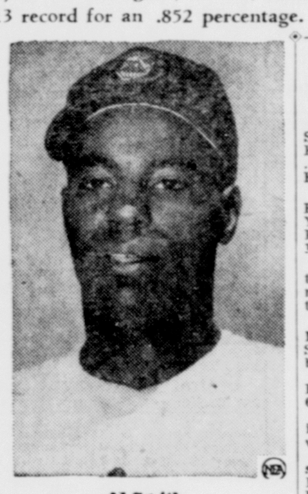

Al Smith went on a slugging spree, walloping three home runs in the Indians' double win. The Tribe outfielder cracked two in the first game, each with a man on base, and added two singles as Cleveland overcame a 5-0 deficit. Bob Feller, who pitched a one-hitter last Sunday, was whacked for five hits before being removed in the second inning for Art Houtteman, the winner. Al Rosen's 11th inning homer broke up the second game.

Two-runs homers by Joe Collins and Hank Bauer helped Grim register his first victory although fireman Jim Konstanty had to come to his rescue after the sophomore walked the first two batters he faced in the ninth.

DUKE SNIDER'S grand slam homer in the seventh, the fourth of his major league career, earned Brooklyn's Johnny Podres his third victory in four decisions. The Phils came within one run of overcoming a 9-2 deficit with four tallies in the seventh and two more in the eighth. The Phillies outhit the Dodgers, 14 to 9, but left 11 runners stranded to only 3 for the Dodgers. It was the Phils' ninth straight defeat.

Don Mueller of the Giants extended his hitting streak through 21 consecutive games with two hits in the opener and three in the second game of the Giant-Pirates doubleheader. The New York outfielder, hitting at .421, needs to hit in the next three games to equal the team record of 24 straight hitting games by Fred Lindstrom.

Don's hitting went to waste in the opener as homers by Dick Groat, Jerry Lynch and Gene Freese helped Dick Littlefield gain his second Pirate victory. Sal Maglie picked up the Giant victory, in relief, as Willie Mays contributed four hits, including his fourth homer, in the nightcap.

GOOD EVENING!
The following only concerns a person with a modest income looking for a real home. To my mind it is a rare opportunity for a couple with children and a will to help themselves. The property is located in Connelly on a hill overlooking the countryside, adjacent to several other very nice homes. It comprises a large garden plot and an additional wooded area. The house is a well built 2 story with 8 rooms. It has no improvements. The roof is new, the walls are plastered; has a cellar and attic and sets back from a paved street. We believe that this is exceptional value for $5000 with excellent terms. When improvements are completed it will qualify for G. I. or bank mortgage.

GOOD EVENING!
The following only concerns a person with a modest income looking for a real home. To my mind it is a rare opportunity for a couple with children and a will to help themselves. The property is located in Connelly on a hill overlooking the countryside, adjacent to several other very nice homes. It comprises a large garden plot and an additional wooded area. The house is a well built 2 story with 8 rooms. It has no improvements. The roof is new, the walls are plastered; has a cellar and attic and sets back from a paved street. We believe that this is exceptional value for $5000 with excellent terms. When improvements are completed it will qualify for G. I. or bank mortgage.

Vaccination . . .

we have used is safe and effective," he said.

BASIL O'CONNOR, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which is financing the free school program, declined to comment on Scheele's statement until he had had a chance to study it. Before the statement was issued, however, he told newsmen in Kansas city:

"There should be a scientific basis before such a delay is put into effect. I would not want to take responsibility for arbitrarily asking a delay in giving the vaccine unless there was some good reason for doing it."

IN A STATEMENT issued for him in New York, O'Connor touched on demands raised in some quarters that the government assume control of the vaccination program.

Without saying whether he favored it, O'Connor said the only effective control would involve federal acquisition and allocation of all Salk vaccine. He issued the statement, he said, to clear up a "confusion of voices."

O'Connor said only two of the five manufacturers now making Salk vaccine turned out the vaccine used in the successful field tests last year. They were Eli Lilly & Co. and the Parke-Davis Co. None of the test vaccine was made by the Cutter Firm, O'Connor said. He was asked about the point in a telephone call to Kansas City.

Thruway Worker

Bloomington, Rifton and Cottekill Fire Departments, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation also rendered assistance.

Only yesterday a party of sheriff's men searched the creek all the way from Eddyville upstream to the point where the body was discovered missing. In the early days of the search, portable floodlight systems provided by fire companies and Central Hudson were used to extend the search after dark.

Surviving are his parents, Regina Mager and Walter S. Edge, Jr.; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mager of Kingston and Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Edge, Sr., of Kansas City. Private funeral services will be held at the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale, at 2 p. m. Tuesday. Burial will be in Rosendale Plains Cemetery. Friends may call at the parlors from 7 to 10 p. m. today. It is requested that flowers be omitted.

Suspend Inoculations

Trenton, N. J., May 9 (AP)—New Jersey plans for inoculating first and second grade school children have been suspended pending a federal government precautionary double-check of the Salk polio vaccine's manufacture and testing. State Health Commissioner Daniel Bergsma said last night New Jersey "will comply with the recommendations of the surgeon general because he has information not presently available to us."

Canada Going Ahead

Ottawa, May 9 (AP)—Canada is going ahead with its mass inoculation of school children against polio despite the U. S. government's "strong recommendation" that the immunizations in the United States be halted temporarily. Health Minister Paul Martin announced last night, after a check with deputies over the country, that "approximately half a million Canadian children have been inoculated without unfavorable reaction.

Season's First Program

Stock Races Resume At Rhinebeck Track

Rhinebeck Speedway has set Saturday, May 14, as the date for the opener of the stock car and midget races at the Dutchess oval.

The lid lifter will feature a dual program of midgets and modified-sportsmen stocks. The card will consist of ten events—four elimination races of each type and a midget car feature of 25 laps.

The stock car feature will be contested over the 30-lap route.

HEADING THE stock car field will be Ken Gootermote of Troy, who already has racked up one victory, a second and a fourth at Agawam, Mass. and was the 1954 Mutual circuit champion.

Besides Gootermote, Rhinebeck officials expect to have Doug Garrison, winner of the track's 250-lap feature last year; Bob Devine, Link Pettit, Art Green, Gene Bergin, Wild Bill Secor, the Irving brothers and a field of 30 other eastern stars.

Two popular midget racers—George and Ed Flemke of New Britain head the small car contingent. Other stars expected include Roger Bailey, Elmer Gunnarson, Bob Boone, Bob Hart and others in a 40-man field.

Avery Resigns His MW Position

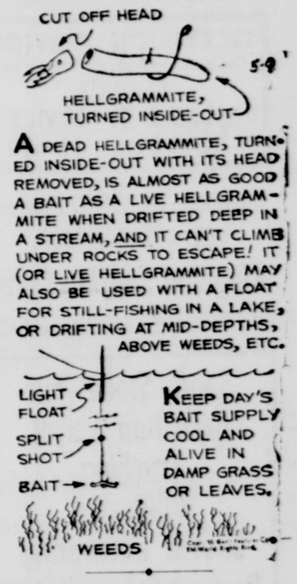

Chicago, May 9 (AP)—Sewell L. Avery, 81-year-old chairman of Montgomery Ward and Co., resigned today, two weeks after fighting off an attempt by Louis E. Wolfson to win control of the mail order firm.

John A. Barr, vice president and secretary who conducted part of the historic April 22 stockholders' meeting in Avery's place, was named to succeed Avery as chairman of the board and chairman of the executive committee.

Avery will remain a director of the company. He is one of the candidates on the management slate of directors for re-election. Votes taken at the stockholders' meeting April 22 are being counted and tabulated.

Hold Up Restaurant

Yonkers, May 9 (AP) — Two armed men held up co-owner Joseph Freed and three employes at the Steve Phillips Restaurant this morning and escaped with $4,000 of weekend receipts. The restaurant is at 1144 Yonkers avenue, two blocks from the Yonkers Raceway.

EN ROUTE TO THE 33RD ANNUAL conference of the Association of the Junior Leagues of America at Sun Valley, Idaho, Mrs. Raymond Garraghan (left) and Mrs. Robert MacKinnon from the Junior League of this city are shown aboard a New York Central special train. The conference opens today.

we have used is safe and effective," he said.

BASIL O'CONNOR, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which is financing the free school program, declined to comment on Scheele's statement until he had had a chance to study it. Before the statement was issued, however, he told newsmen in Kansas city:

"There should be a scientific basis before such a delay is put into effect. I would not want to take responsibility for arbitrarily asking a delay in giving the vaccine unless there was some good reason for doing it."

IN A STATEMENT issued for him in New York, O'Connor touched on demands raised in some quarters that the government assume control of the vaccination program.

Without saying whether he favored it, O'Connor said the only effective control would involve federal acquisition and allocation of all Salk vaccine. He issued the statement, he said, to clear up a "confusion of voices."

O'Connor said only two of the five manufacturers now making Salk vaccine turned out the vaccine used in the successful field tests last year. They were Eli Lilly & Co. and the Parke-Davis Co. None of the test vaccine was made by the Cutter Firm, O'Connor said. He was asked about the point in a telephone call to Kansas City.

Thruway Worker

Bloomington, Rifton and Cottekill Fire Departments, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation also rendered assistance.

Only yesterday a party of sheriff's men searched the creek all the way from Eddyville upstream to the point where the body was discovered missing. In the early days of the search, portable floodlight systems provided by fire companies and Central Hudson were used to extend the search after dark.

Surviving are his parents, Regina Mager and Walter S. Edge, Jr.; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mager of Kingston and Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Edge, Sr., of Kansas City. Private funeral services will be held at the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale, at 2 p. m. Tuesday. Burial will be in Rosendale Plains Cemetery. Friends may call at the parlors from 7 to 10 p. m. today. It is requested that flowers be omitted.

Suspend Inoculations

Trenton, N. J., May 9 (AP)—New Jersey plans for inoculating first and second grade school children have been suspended pending a federal government precautionary double-check of the Salk polio vaccine's manufacture and testing. State Health Commissioner Daniel Bergsma said last night New Jersey "will comply with the recommendations of the surgeon general because he has information not presently available to us."

Canada Going Ahead

Ottawa, May 9 (AP)—Canada is going ahead with its mass inoculation of school children against polio despite the U. S. government's "strong recommendation" that the immunizations in the United States be halted temporarily. Health Minister Paul Martin announced last night, after a check with deputies over the country, that "approximately half a million Canadian children have been inoculated without unfavorable reaction.

Season's First Program

Stock Races Resume At Rhinebeck Track

Rhinebeck Speedway has set Saturday, May 14, as the date for the opener of the stock car and midget races at the Dutchess oval.

The lid lifter will feature a dual program of midgets and modified-sportsmen stocks. The card will consist of ten events—four elimination races of each type and a midget car feature of 25 laps.

The stock car feature will be contested over the 30-lap route.

HEADING THE stock car field will be Ken Gootermote of Troy, who already has racked up one victory, a second and a fourth at Agawam, Mass. and was the 1954 Mutual circuit champion.

Besides Gootermote, Rhinebeck officials expect to have Doug Garrison, winner of the track's 250-lap feature last year; Bob Devine, Link Pettit, Art Green, Gene Bergin, Wild Bill Secor, the Irving brothers and a field of 30 other eastern stars.

Two popular midget racers—George and Ed Flemke of New Britain head the small car contingent. Other stars expected include Roger Bailey, Elmer Gunnarson, Bob Boone, Bob Hart and others in a 40-man field.

Avery Resigns His MW Position

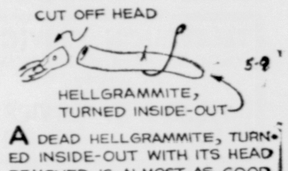

Chicago, May 9 (AP)—Sewell L. Avery, 81-year-old chairman of Montgomery Ward and Co., resigned today, two weeks after fighting off an attempt by Louis E. Wolfson to win control of the mail order firm.

John A. Barr, vice president and secretary who conducted part of the historic April 22 stockholders' meeting in Avery's place, was named to succeed Avery as chairman of the board and chairman of the executive committee.

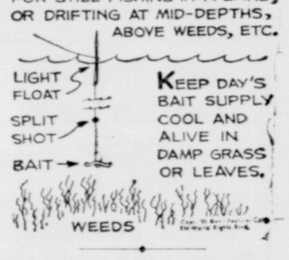

Avery will remain a director of the company. He is one of the candidates on the management slate of directors for re-election. Votes taken at the stockholders' meeting April 22 are being counted and tabulated.

temperatures in the mid 40s in the north to the mid 50s in the south. Fair and quite cool with frost in most sections tonight, low temperatures from the mid 20s to the low 30's. Fair and warmer tomorrow.

City engineer's weather report: Temperature at 10 a. m., today 54, barometric pressure 29.60, humidity 62, and wind NW at 18 MPH. High temperature yesterday 75 at 1 p. m., low 51 at 11:30 p. m., mean 63, normal 60 and degree days 5. Humidity 94 at 9 a. m., and 33 at 5 p. m. Record Common Stocks Dividends

New York, May 9 (AP)—Owners of common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange received a record $1,671,249,360 in cash dividends during the first quarter of this year, the Exchange Magazine said today.

That was an increase of 9.4 per cent over the amount paid on the same stocks in the first three months of 1954, the magazine said, and marked the 13th successive year that first quarter cash common dividends improved over the year before.

Nearly 80 per cent of the 1,077 common stocks listed on the exchange—857 separate issues—paid cash dividends during the first quarter. Of that number, 292 or 34 per cent paid more than in the first quarter of last year.

The largest payments in the initial quarter were $308,794,870 by utility issues, $254,415,800 by petroleum and natural gas issues, and $178,669,330 by chemicals.

Legion Auxiliary Party

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold a card party tonight at the Legion building on W. O'Reilly street at 8 p. m.

The Library of Congress in Washington was burned by the British in 1812 and other fires in 1825 and 1851 destroyed much of the collection of books.

Policeman, Boy Are Saved From Rapids

Niagara Falls, May 9 (AP)—Rescuers plucked a 14-year-old boy and a policeman from the wall of the Niagara river gorge early today as they hung precariously over the swirling river.

Young Dennis Martel was clinging to the cliff, about 30 feet from the top and 160 feet above the water. Niagara Frontier State Park police lowered Cpl. Carmen Conte by rope. The rope broke just as he reached the boy. Thirty feet further down, the corporal grabbed a small tree.

Other police lowered another rope. Conte suffered hip injuries.

Police said the boy and two uncles had followed a pathway down the gorge last night. They lost the trail on the way up. The uncles made their way to the top and called police, who located the boy with searchlights.

CC Will Consider Highway Parley

The possibility and advisability of sponsoring an informal conference of all agencies involved in area highway and street problems will be given consideration at the board of directors meeting of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening.

The new off-street parking committee will make a report with some recommendations for action. Other items on the agenda include the membership committee report on results of the first week of the membership campaign, including both new memberships and renewals.

UP TO NOON today 81 new membership applications had been reported with several reports of commiteemen still lacking and considerable follow-up work to be done.

President J. Ellis Briggs urged a full attendance of all directors. The meeting will start promptly at 7:30 p. m. in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Biggest Fish Fry

Canogli, Italy, May 9 (AP)—This Italian Riviera resort claims it put on the world's biggest fish fry yesterday. From noon to nightfall all comers were served from a one-ton frying pan over an outdoor fire. An estimated 45,000 came and ate 10,120 pounds of fish. The occasion was celebration of the Feast of Saint Fortunato, protector of the community.
